The Kingston Daily Freeman

VOL. LVII.—No. 51. CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., FRIDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 16, 1927. PRICE FOUR CENTS.

Cost 95 Cents a Day For Each City Home Inmate

Superintendent Edmonston Reduced Cost 13 Cents a Day From Previous Year—Sales from City Farm Showed $2,255.21 Profit—Support of Children Biggest Item In Cost of Outdoor Relief.

It cost the city to clothe and feed each inmate of the City Home the sum of $326.57 during 1927, or 95 cents a day, according to the fifty-sixth annual report of the Home submitted by Superintendent Thomas H. Edmonston at the monthly meeting of the Charity Commissioners held at the home Thursday night. President Ernest W. Kearney and Commissioners J. Leonard Salzmann and John Lang adopted the report and the budget for 1928 calling for an appropriation of $49,495.

In 1926, it cost the city $1.08 per day for each inmate of the City Home. The 1927 cost was 13 cents less per person.

As the Charity Commissioners drove up to the home the large sedan of Mrs. Sam Bernstein stood waiting for six of the ladies, inmates of the home, who were taken to see the Community Christmas Trees of both sections of the city. When the six ladies returned another group of the same number were taken to see the Christmas decorations throughout the city. The ladies enjoyed the trips very much and expressed their heartiest thanks for the ride.

Superintendent Edmonston told the Charity Commissioners that the large tree outside the home would soon be decorated with colored lights as in the past years. He also said that a delegation from the Immanuel Lutheran Church had visited the home and volunteered to decorate for Christmas and furnish a program of entertainment.

At the close of the meeting the commissioners voiced their approval of the superintendent's hospitality and of the fine aspect the home presents.

The following is the report of Superintendent Edmonston:

Ulster Home Bureau Wins Dramatic Contest

Inter-County Dramatic Contest Between Ulster and Saratoga County Farm and Home Bureau Associations Held at High School—Ulster Cast Will Compete at Ithaca.

On Thursday evening there was a goodly audience—but not equal to the banquet crowd, according to Mr. Eppes,—at the Kingston High School to witness the Inter-County Dramatic Contest waged between the Saratoga County Farm and Home Bureau and the Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau Associations.

Orchestral music was furnished by Zucces's orchestra which not only played selections before, between and after the two plays, but did everything that President Millard Davis, or Community Sing Leader, "Hal" Eppes asked them to. When Mr. Eppes ran off a contest between the community singing of "Leap Frog," against the orchestra's extemporaneous playing of the same, the orchestra won the race, and everybody nearly laughed him or herself sick.

The Ulster county play, "Sauce for the Goslings," was given first by the following cast:

Richard Taylor——Henry DuBois
Margaret Taylor—Mrs. Frank Elliott
Robert Taylor——Ralph Buchanan
Elizabeth Taylor—Mrs. Harold DuBois
Martha Lee——Mrs. I. D. Kortright
James Ward——Walter Parker
A Maid ——Myra Geralds

The Freeman has already published the synopsis of the two-act play.

Between plays there was a sort of three-ring performance that kept everybody happy, carried on by Mr. Eppes, the orchestra and the running fire of comments and criticisms of President Davis.

The title of the play given by the Saratoga group from West Wilton was "The Crowning Glory," which proved to be a gay, youthful dream of a hat, bought by Aunt Emily with the money given her by her nephew, Guy. Having worn mourning time out of mind, Aunt Emily, still young and decidedly good looking and snappy, had just been hankering for that hat, which coming from a mail-order concern certainly did need some adjusting to look modish. It was even laughed at by two neighbors and a niece, until Guy brought his very up-to-date sweetheart, to see Aunt Emily and with them attended a celebration at which the senator was to speak. She adjusted the hat, gave the right touches to Aunt Emily's rather impossible costume, added a becoming scarf, and there was Auntie, as charming as possible. In fact Auntie brought down the house when she declined to attend the festivities with her neighbors in their truck, as "Senator Davis" had invited her to go with him in his auto.

Some of the acting was so perfectly natural as to contradict any idea that it was acting, especially that of Mrs. Charles Crawford as Aunt Emily and Albert Clark as Guy, her nephew.

While the judges, one from Saratoga county, one from Ulster county and one from Sullivan county, were deciding the fate of the two casts, a very pleasing piano solo was played by Walter Parker of New Paltz.

Mr. Davis certainly did tease that audience before he finally announced the winners of the contest, the Ulster county cast, when there were three hearty cheers given for the home county and three just as lusty cheers for Saratoga county. Mr. Davis also in behalf of the audience heartily thanked the visiting cast for the excellence of their entertainment.

Because of winning this contest, the Ulster county group will go to Cornell Farmers' Week and there compete with three other groups for the final first prize of $50 or second of $35.

The following is the cast of "The Crowning Glory":

Miss Emily Harriman——
Mrs. Charles Crawford
Guy, Her Nephew——Albert Clark
Mrs. Sophie Meechan——
Mrs. John Rowley
Josephine——Miss Betty Capen
Mrs. Albert Thayer——
Mrs. George Stiles
Dorothy Barclay—Miss Dorothy Stiles

Hutton Lost Part of Thumb.

Warren Hutton of 215 West Chestnut street has lost part of his thumb as the result of getting his hand caught in a machine in the Manhattan shirt factory earlier in the week. The top of the thumb was cut cleanly off by the machine.

City Hospital Nurses' Alumni

Organization Celebrates Twenty-fifth Anniversary With Banquet and Speeches—Tributes Paid by Nurses to Former Superintendents.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the Nurses' Alumni of the City of Kingston Hospital was celebrated Thursday evening with a banquet at McCabe's Restaurant on Wall street and was attended by nearly seventy members of the organization.

Miss Katherine M. Murphy, president of the Alumni, introduced Miss Agnes R. Lee as toastmistress of the evening. Miss Lee, who spoke of the work of the organization praised the efforts of Miss M. A. C. Moore, who served the hospital as its superintendent for twenty-three years and who was largely instrumental in the organization of the alumni.

Miss Lee called on Miss Murphy, Miss Mary E. Ryan, Miss Florence Bogart, Miss Jessie B. Allan, the present superintendent of the hospital; Miss Anna Curman and Cumberland Hospital, Brooklyn; Miss Esther Quest, Miss Henrietta Schwab, Miss Ida Windrum, Miss Agnes Finnerty, Miss Alice Boice and Miss Gertrude Bradley, all of whom spoke briefly and entertainingly.

Letters of regret were read from several of the member who were unable to be present. Among those unable to attend were Miss Moore and Miss Ida Topping, the first president of the alumni, who now resides in Middletown.

During the course of the address tributes were paid to the work accomplished by the various superintendents of the hospital since the formation of the alumni. Those who served the hospital as superintendents during the past quarter century were Miss Moore, Miss Gertrude Diecks, Miss Mary E. Ryan, Miss Edna Smith, Miss Martha Morningstar and Miss Allan.

The officers of the association are: President, Miss Katherine M. Murphy; vice presidents, Miss Henrietta Schwab and Miss Agnes R. Lee; secretary, Miss Florence Bogart; treasurer, Miss Olive Boice.

Boy Criminals, Serious Problem

Commission of Correction Publishes Report In An Endeavor to Arouse Sentiment to the Need of Demobilizing Army of Young Criminals.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—An endeavor to arouse public sentiment to the need of demobilizing the "army of young criminals" in the state was made today by the State Commission of Correction. The attempt was in the publication by the commission of a report revealing, among other things, that in the year ending June 30, 1927, more than 1,500 youths were sentenced to state penal institutions and that many more went to institutions maintained by the city of New York.

"Boys of sixteen and up to young men of twenty-one years of age overflow our penal institutions, the major portion of these charged with all kinds of crimes of violence against persons and property," the report stated.

After presenting statistics to show the existence of a large juvenile underworld in the state, the report said that "the cold figures given should arouse citizens generally to the fact that herein lies one of the most live and urgent questions confronting the community as to its future citizenship, as well as the present and future safety of life and property."

A study of criminal activity has revealed that although but two per cent of New York city's population comes in contact with the law, charged with crime, 44 per cent of the crimes are committed by boys under 21 years of age.

W. H. Gill, Deputy County Clerk

Deputy County Clerk Walter G. Geroldsek, who was elected to the office of county clerk at the recent election and who will assume the duties of that office on January 1, has appointed Walter H. Gill, son of Judge Walter N. Gill, as his deputy county clerk.

Mr. Gill is a lawyer and has had previous experience in public office, having been clerk of the surrogate's court during the time his father, Judge Walter N. Gill, was surrogate of the county. He is an able and competent office man with considerable experience and may be depended upon to perform the duties at the county clerk's office in a creditable manner. He is an ex-service man, having seen service abroad, and is a member of the American Legion.

Secures Position.

Miss Genevieve Lorenzen, a graduate of Spencer's Business School, 257-39 Fair street, has secured a desirable position as stenographer and typist with The Charles Williams Stores, automobile supplies, New York city.

Bishop of Scranton.

Rome, Dec. 16 (AP).—Monsignor Thomas O'Reilly, rector of the Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist, Cleveland, has been appointed bishop of Scranton by Pope Pius.

New Oil Station For Broadway

Company Organized By James E. Snead and Louis Dutto Preparing To Open Drive-in Station Near Cedar Street.

The D. & S. Oil, Land and Fuel Company, Inc., which was recently organized by James E. Snead and Louis Dutto, has begun operations on the coal yard property on Broadway near Cedar street, which was occupied by Teller & Tappen until that firm sold out to the Kingston Coal Company. During the past five weeks a gang of men have been busy placing tanks for an oil and gasoline distribution station. Tanks with a capacity of 50,000 gallons have already been placed under ground and by spring the station will be in full operation.

The corporation has the local distribution franchise for Pure-Oil gasoline and oils with a territory extending from Highland north. The company will deal both retail and wholesale and the station on Broadway will be converted into a wholesale and retail distribution plant. The present office building on the Broadway frontage, formerly used by the Teller & Tappen company and now used by the Hudson Valley Coke and Products Company for office purposes, will be demolished after April first and a modern drive-in gasoline station will be erected on the site. The coke company, which has a lease on the building until April first, will then move its office to the portion of the property fronting on Cedar street where office quarters will be fitted out.

An English cottage style of architecture will be followed in the erection of the station. Hydraulic lifts will be installed and modern pumps will be erected. At first the company will erect four pumps and handle two grades of gasoline, the No-Knock Pure-oil product and a straight run gasoline. There will be an entrance from Cedar street as well as from Broadway.

Gasoline will be shipped direct to the station in tank cars and run over a spur to the tanks which are located underground. The unloading of the tank cars will be by gravity and there will be no necessity of pumping the gasoline from the cars to the tanks.

Although the company does not expect to get into full operation until spring, every effort is being made to have sufficient tanks installed and ready for use as soon as possible this winter.

The remodeling of the station will be taken up immediately after April first when the coke company vacates the property.

Rivers in Ohio Continue to Rise

Great Damage From Flood Waters In Northwestern Section—Little Damage Expected In Southern Part.

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 16 (AP).—With another heavy downpour of rain last night, Ohio rivers again took on menacing aspects today, threatening inhabitants of river valleys and flooding lowlands.

Flood waters in the Mahoning and Tuscarawas rivers drove hundreds of families in Warren and Massillon from their homes.

Canoe City, a hamlet of the Mahoning river, below Warren, was entirely under waters last night. Those of its 150 inhabitants who could not escape in time were taken out in boats.

Relief crews operated most of the night at Warren and Massillon.

While most of the damage from flood waters has been confined to the northwestern section of the state, the lower stretches of the Ohio continued to rise, approaching the flood stage. Farther down however, the river is said to be in good condition for carrying the excess water, and unless the heavy rains continue little damage is expected in the southern part of the state.

Coolidge in Role Of Santa Claus

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP).—President Coolidge assumed the role of Santa Claus today for the government employes in Washington, but warned that his action might not again be repeated.

By executive order, he stipulated that all government departments shall close on Saturday, December 24, which will give the employes a three-day holiday, since Christmas, falling on Sunday, actually will be celebrated on Monday.

The order, understood to have been executed to give the employes a chance to do some shopping, ends with these words:

"This order is not to be deemed as establishing a precedent."

The Wilbur Market Opened.

Pauline Gardner of 136 North Front street has certified to the Ulster county clerk under the assumed name business law that she is conducting a general store dealing in groceries and supplies under the name and style The Wilbur Market, at 2 Wilbur avenue, Kingston.

Aldermen Adopt Two Salary Laws

One Provides for Salary of $700 for Alderman-at-Large, Other for $350 Salary for Aldermen—Bus Franchise Transferred.

The common council Thursday evening adopted Local Laws Nos. 2 and 3 of 1927, which came up for final reading and passage. The first law provided that the salary of the members of the common council shall be $350 per year, effective January 1, 1928, and the other that the salary of alderman-at-large shall be $700 per year. At present the aldermen receive $120 a year and the alderman-at-large $500.

Both laws now go to Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey, who, under the Home Rule bill, must hold a public hearing on both bills. The mayor stated that night that he would fix Tuesday evening, December 27, at 7 o'clock as the date for holding the public hearing on both laws.

Budget Hearing December 27.

The same evening at 8 o'clock Mayor Dempsey will hold a public hearing on the proposed budget for 1928.

No Opposition at Hearing.

Before the common council met Thursday evening Mayor Dempsey held a public hearing on the application of Stanley Longyear, who operates the Woodstock bus line, for permission to transfer his franchise to the Kingston-Woodstock Bus Corporation. No one appeared at the hearing and it was declared closed, and the petition sent back to the common council by the mayor.

Approved Transfer.

The common council approved the transfer of the bus franchise and granted the application without a dissenting vote.

City Hall Bids December 20.

The common council also adopted the report of the auditing committee and adjourned to Tuesday evening, December 20, at which time bids for the reconstruction of the city hall will be opened.

It is said that there are over a dozen bids for the general contract already in the hands of the building committee.

3 Persons Drown In Auto Mishap

Car Hits Bridge, Bounds Into River and Traps Four in Icy Waters—One Manages to Escape but Cannot Explain.

Corning, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—Three persons were drowned, and another had a miraculous escape at 2 o'clock this morning when the car in which they were riding, struck a bridge at Rathbone, bounded into the river and trapped all four in the icy waters.

The dead: Miss Edith Sourbier, aged 23, daughter of Fred Sourbier, of Cameron; William McCarthy, Elmira, and Clarence Hills, Elmira.

Miss Marion Sibley, daughter of Fred Sibley, of Addison, managed to escape from the submerged car, but cannot explain how she got out. She is suffering from such a nervous shock that her physician refuses to allow her to talk, and little details can be obtained.

According to what can be learned the young women, both of whom teach school at Cameron, had been to Elmira and were accompanied home by the young men. When the car struck the bridge it immediately fell into the river, but Miss Sibley managed to free herself, and going to the home of John Cole, nearby, sought help.

Former Police Chief James Erwin of Addison was summoned and with the aid of others it took two hours to remove the car and recover the bodies.

Both young women were graduates of Addison High School and of the Addison training class.

Mrs. Coolidge's Knit Bedspread

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP).—A knit bedspread, product of the skillful hands of Mrs. Coolidge, has been revealed as a mute prophecy that President Coolidge will leave the White House in 1929.

The spread was finished by Mrs. Coolidge almost a year ago, several months before her husband announced in the Dakota Black Hills that he did not "choose to run" in 1928. It bears in the center the coat of arms of the United States, with corresponding decorative pieces in the four corners, but the prophetic weaving is found in the side pieces.

On one side is knitted the name Lincoln, and the dates 1861-1865. On the other is Calvin Coolidge, 1923-1929.

Just as the patch work quilt left in the summer lodge in the Black Hills will remind those who pass that way of the handiwork of the President's wife, so will the knit bedspread remain in the White House.

Bus Hearing Postponed.

The hearing before the Public Service Commission on the petition of the Kingston and Albany Bus Lines, Inc., for a certificate between Kingston and Albany was postponed Thursday until a future date. The petitioning company is said to be getting necessary consents of towns and villages through which it proposes to operate.

Lindbergh Will Spend Xmas In Mexico City

He Then Plans to Make A Flight to Central American Countries—Expects His Mother to Spend Holiday With Him—Will Fly From Central America to Havana and Then Directly to St. Louis.

Mexico City, Dec. 16 (AP).—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will spend Christmas in Mexico City and then plans to make a flight from the Mexican Capital to the Central American countries of Guatemala, Honduras, Salvador and Panama.

He expects his mother, Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh, Detroit chemistry teacher, to come to Mexico City as the guest of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow to spend the Christmas with him.

Lindbergh, himself telling of his plans in an interview with newspaper correspondents, said that the order in which he will visit the four Central American countries had not been decided.

He will fly from Central America to Havana and then from Havana directly to St. Louis, Mo.

In the course of the interview, Lindbergh indicated that he might go to a bull fight on Sunday. When asked about protests from the United States against his going to a bull fight, he replied:

"I think Mexico is perfectly capable of choosing its own national sport."

Protests from organizations in all parts of the United States against his possible attendance at a bull fight continue to reach the Embassy. About sixty have been received, including one from Minnie Maddern Fiske, the actress.

Colonel Lindbergh, who visited the American School here today where he was received with vociferous applause, told the correspondents that he believed a regular air line service would be established between the United States and Mexico and Central American countries. This could come, he thought, before a regular transatlantic air service could be established.

Order Not Decided.

The order in which the American airman, who so completely captivated Mexico on his arrival here Wednesday, will visit the Central American Republic has not been decided nor has the time of his departure from Mexico City been made public.

Neither Colonel Lindbergh nor American Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow would reveal these phases of the projected air journey.

Lindbergh feels that because the arrangements are being made between the department of state and the governments of the Central American countries, he is at present in no position to make a statement. In addition to this he is pursuing his characteristic policy of little or no advance talking or announcements of his intentions.

Mexico City, Dec. 16 (AP).—Paid the highest honors in the power of the Mexican government, Charles A. Lindbergh today was ready to gratify the desire of plain people of Mexico City to see him before he flew away to other parts of Latin America.

During the course of his stay several public ceremonials will be held in the big athletic stadium, seating 30,000 people and other enclosures so that all may see the flyer. He has expressed his willingness to fly over the city to gratify the public's interest.

Lindbergh will fly to Panama, it was announced there, at a date to be determined later. He has under advisement invitations from several other central American countries, including Nicaragua.

"Solemn Session".

For the first time in its history, the Mexican congress held a "solemn session" for a private citizen, when Lindbergh was received in the Chamber of Deputies. This was the highest honor Congress could pay him as such a session is called rarely and only for the most important government officials.

Lindbergh is not a private citizen, but an "ambassdor of good will to the Mexican people," the deputies decided by formal vote. He was therefore entitled to receive highest honors.

During the session, cheers for a president of the United States were heard, probably for the first time. The deputies gave "vivis" for President Coolidge, Lindbergh and Dwight W. Morrow, American ambassador.

The flyer was presented with a gold medal by Dr. Alejandro Cerigold president of the Chamber of Deputies. On one side was the Mexican coat of arms, on the other was inscribed:

"To Colonel Lindbergh from the Mexican Chamber of Deputies in behalf of the Congress of Mexico and in order to express our admiration for his noble feat and glorious mission."

Lindbergh stood on the rostrum beside the president and bowed in appreciation as deputies and specta-

Civic Funeral For Victims of Orphanage Fire

Search Continues For More Bodies Believed In Ruins after Recovery of 33 With 17 Unaccounted For—Stories of Deeds of Heroism.

Quebec, Dec. 16 (AP).—A civic funeral will take place Sunday afternoon for the victims of the fire which Wednesday destroyed the Hospice St. Charles Catholic orphanage.

Announcement of the city's decision was made by Mayor Simard after a meeting of the finance committee. All expenses will be borne by the municipal and provincial authorities.

Burial will follow the group funeral services. On Monday a Mass will be celebrated for the victims.

Search went on today for other bodies believed in the ruins after 33 bodies, most of them children, were recovered. Seventeen children were unaccounted for.

The 95 year old orphanage, which has housed 500 children and a number of nuns, was a mass of ice-covered ruins. A modern wing, however, stood undamaged. The loss was estimated by the Rev. Mother St. Hieefonse at $250,000 of which $90,000 is covered by insurance.

Out of the disaster, the most serious of its kind in the history of the city, came stories of deeds of heroism, not the least of which was the courage with which Miss Rosa Anna Goudreault, 17, met her death rescuing her young charges in the infant ward. After repeated trips into the burning building, on each of which she brought out a few sleepy youngsters, she made a final visit from which she failed to return. Hours later her charred body was found near a room in which several babies had been suffocated in their sleep.

YOUNG BOY ARRESTED FOR PANHANDLING ON BROADWAY

For some time past complaints have been received by the police of young boys ten years old and under panhandling on Broadway and at the Auditorium Theatre. Thursday night one of the lads was caught and was taken home and his parents notified to appear with him on Saturday in children's court.

One of the tricks used successfully by the boys was for one of them to get down on his hands and knees on the sidewalk and search for something, with tears rolling down his cheeks. Soon a crowd would gather and some kind hearted person in the crowd would ask, "Well, sonny, what did you lose?" The little chap with sobs choking his voice would reply: "A quarter, and if I don't find it I'll sure get a walloping when I get home". It is needless to say that the lad did not get a "walloping" as some one would "come across" with a quarter.

WILLIAMS TO BE DIRECTOR OF SAUGERTIES GLEE CLUB.

The Saugerties Glee Club has selected Robert Williams of Newburgh as the director for the club to succeed Harry P. Dodge of Kingston who resigned recently. Mr. Williams will start his work in the club on Monday evening, January 9. Rehearsals will be on Monday evenings for the year. Mr. Williams comes highly recommended. He is organist in St. John's Episcopal Church in Kingston, also director of the Y. M. C. A. Glee Club at Newburgh and director of music in the Newburgh schools and director of the Glee Club at the New York Military Academy at Cornwall. Miss Ethel Schwab of Saugerties will be the club's accompanist for the year.

RAIN AND HAIL MADE WALKING DANGEROUS

The rain storm of Thursday night which was followed by hail and snow made the sidewalks very slippery this morning and pedestrians had to watch their steps carefully to avoid falling. Automobiles equipped with chains to prevent skidding found travel easy.

"NOBODY CAN COMPETE WITH LINDY," SAYS WILL ROGERS.

Mexico City, Dec. 16 (AP).—Will Rogers, who lost his guest room at the American Embassy to Lindbergh, said: "I've closed my Mexico City engagement.

"I closed automatically when Lindy landed. Nobody can compete with that boy."

AMATEUR SLEUTH PROVES A "FLOP"

While Seeking the "Club-Footed Bandit" He Nabs and Honest Sailor.

New York.—Jeremiah McCarthy of Hoboken has read most of the latest mystery and detective novels and has been so impressed by the ease and certainty with which the great sleuths of fiction discover and develop clews that he has obtained a state license as a private detective.

Recently Mr. McCarthy felt himself competent to do a bit of sleuthing, and taking the day off from his usual labors went down to Hudson and Tenth streets, Hoboken, and stood on a corner. He knew from his reading that if he stood long enough he would see a criminal. Presently he was attracted by a little man, attired in a brown suit and gray hat and carrying a big bundle under his arm, who was engaged in the curious occupation of going in and out of houses. To Mr. McCarthy this seemed highly suspicious, and when the man wandered down Hudson street Mr. McCarthy wandered along behind him.

Actions Grew Suspicious.

Mr. McCarthy's quarry soon became nervous and suddenly he took to his heels and fled into Elysian fields, a small park at Hudson and Tenth streets. Then it was that Mr. McCarthy noticed that the little man limped on the right foot and that, while perhaps not criminal, was certainly suspicious, for it indicated that the little man might be none other than the "Club-footed Bandit" who had popped out of the pages of a book. Mr. McCarthy's task, thereafter, was simplicity itself, although he soon lost sight of the little man, for that frightened person dodged behind some bushes. Mr. McCarthy had only to watch for a man who limped, and for half an hour he skirted the edges of the park.

Success finally crowned his efforts, for a little man came out from behind a bush.

The little man limped rapidly down the street, but within two blocks Mr. McCarthy saw a regular policeman and, displaying his private detective's badge, had the little man arrested. At the police station the prisoner said he was George Finn of 130 Christopher street, New York.

"I'm a sailor," said Finn. "I just got off my ship. What's this guy having me pinched for?"

"You limp," said Mr. McCarthy, and that was that. In City court Mr. McCarthy identified Finn as the man who had been popping in and out of houses, which if not criminal was certainly suspicious. The judge thereupon held Finn in $500 bail for the grand jury and sent him to jail when he protested that he did not have a friend.

Mr. McCarthy retired with the consciousness of a good deed well done, but the Hoboken detectives investigated and found that Finn was, indeed, a sailor just off a ship and had done nothing criminal.

"But," said Mr. McCarthy, "he limps. The guy that was popping in and out of houses limped. He limped terribly on his right foot.

"What's that got to do with me?" demanded Mr. Finn. "I limp on my left foot."

And that, alas, was true, as Mr. Finn demonstrated. Mr. McCarthy was confused, so much so that he could recall no quotation suitable to the occasion, and finally said he guessed he must be wrong. So Mr. Finn was released and Mr. McCarthy sadly shook his head and started to retire. But the Hoboken detectives had more bad news for him.

Find Other Limping Man.

"What's more," they said, "we found the guy you followed.

"Ah!" said Mr. McCarthy, "the Club-footed Bandit."

"Club-footed nothing," said the detectives. "We found that guy and we said, 'What's the idea poppin' in and out of houses that way?'"

"And he confessed?" said Mr. McCarthy eagerly.

"Confessed nothing," said the detectives. "The guy sells vacuum cleaners an' he's got a right to pop in an' out of houses. How's a guy goin' to sell vacuum cleaners if he don't pop in an' out?"

Mr. McCarthy staggered from the presence of the detectives and not until he had gone a block could he remember an apt quotation, which, if it had occurred to him in time might have sustained his reputation.

"To err," recalled Mr. McCarthy, "is human."

Efficient Soldering

When soldering wires to screws, no matter how new they are, the screws should always be cleaned with a file, sandpaper or emery paper until they are bright. The soldering will take only a very little fraction of the time if the material to be soldered is bright and clean as it would were the metal the least bit soiled or oxidized.

ANNOUNCEMENT

GRAND OPENING of "THE LOVERS"

Ideal All-American Candy Garden

15 Albany Avenue (Governor Clinton Hotel) Kingston

FREE—3 Large 5-lb. Boxes of Real Quality Candy—FREE

An Announcement of Unusual Importance to Every Citizen of Kingston

The public is cordially invited to attend the opening, tomorrow, Saturday, December 17, of "THE LOVERS," the place where you get what you actually pay for, and often a little more. Our motto is, "We say it with SERVICE PLUS, yes, SERVICE, first, last, ALWAYS. This opening will indeed be hard to forget. For there is going to be good music, reduced prices, three five pound boxes of candy given away absolutely FREE, and some surprises. In fact, we claim that our opening will be very unique, as well as impressive, to say the least. Why? Simply because, it will be so different from any other opening. Come and convince yourself, have us make good our boast.

Someone has said, "The sooner you take advantage of a Good Opportunity, THE MORE YOU MAKE OUT OF IT." We are about to make the most liberal, yes, sensational offer that probably has ever been made in this section of the country.

IMPORTANT

As an extra special introductory offer, we have cut our prices for this undoubtedly outstanding occasion. Our famous package, namely, "The Lovers," which regularly sells for the popular price, 49c, 75c and 98c, and which we will sell for just this one day at 39c, 65c and 89c. The same QUALITY candy is used for this opening, however, as is always used. A certain satisfied customer has expressed himself in the following manner, "I suppose you could charge more money for your extraordinary package, 'The Lovers,' but, it would be hard for you to give any better candy than you do." Hence, we invite you to at least try it, for the proof of candy lies in the eating. Why not put it to the test?

Now for the amazing part of our offer. You haven't read the half, and the best half at that. In addition, to being able to buy our well known candy at a reduction, for one day ONLY, we are giving away absolutely FREE, three large five pound boxes of the very best kind of candy. In fact, our regular hi-grade quality candy and without cost.

Words are not needed, undoubtedly when you want candy, you certainly want good, yes, truly quality candy—not an alibi. In short, this is the beauty of taking advantage of our remarkable offer, and famous package, namely, "The Lovers."

There is a principle which is a bar to all information, which is proof against all argument, and which cannot fail to keep a man in everlasting ignorance. That principle is condemnation before investigation.—Spencer. .....

A VISIT SOLICITED

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

SCARFS AND GLOVES AS VIEWED FROM PARIS—LANVIN'S SPANGLED BANDANNA SCORES, WHILE SPORTS SCARFS ARE OFTEN OF THE MATERIAL USED FOR THE COSTUME.

Paris—While one quite naturally associates the idea of a scarf with sports wear, it has come to pass that the bandanna, of outdoor repute, has become something of a habitue of dance clubs, and an escort for frocks for evening.

Scarfs have a way this season of being made of the fabric used for the frock, but this does not prevent clever methods of embellishing them. Lanvin gained excellent effect by introducing a handkerchief of black chiffon, spangled with silver sequins, except at the hem, which was of chiffon, also the material of the dress.

Top—The Oblong Scarf of Crepe de Chine Measuring 20 x 42, Elaborated with Semi-Circular Design in Blue and Pink.

Center—Crepe de Chine Square, the Modernistic Leaf Design Depicted in Two Tones of Green.

Bottom—Crepe de Chine Triangle in Autumn Colors Combining Orange, Red, and Tan. The Ring Slipped Over the Ends of the Triangle Is of a Lightweight Composition Coming in All Colors.

There is something decidedly youthful about these square evening scarfs, and they appear on many models. Curiously enough, the sports scarf has more often appeared in long throw effects, while the scarf for evening has become square, and is worn nonchalantly tied, as was the general practice for sports wear.

Another Lanvin scheme of decoration makes use of a band about two inches in width, made of strands of pearls. This edged one side of the scarf of a periwinkle blue evening dress, the pearls ending abruptly about three inches from the edge of the scarf. Jenny uses a scarf of gold metal cloth for a sports costume, and so it goes—scarfs in one delightful form or another continue to add movement and interest to the costume.

In considering gloves, it seems assured that they are more conservative, and consequently less inclined to attract attention than formerly, when all sorts of ornamental bands were added. Well-dressed women are showing a preference for plain beige suede gloves, either buttoned or slip-on, and sufficiently long to crinkle over the wrist.

MORE GOOD THINGS

The following is a delicious way of serving chicken: Dress the chicken and cut into serving sized pieces, stew until tender. If the chicken is tough add two tablespoonfuls of vinegar when it is cooked. Add salt, four or five whole cloves and peppercorns, a bay leaf, two cupfuls of milk and one-half cupful of cream. When it boils thicken with a tablespoonful or two of flour stirred smooth with cold milk. Pour over well baked baking powder biscuits split and buttered and placed on a hot platter.

Parsnip Puff.—Boil parsnips until tender, put through a sieve, add a tablespoonful of butter to each cupful of pulp, season with salt and pepper. Beat two egg yolks, add to one-fourth cupful of white sauce, cool, and add the stiffly beaten whites, pour into a well buttered baking dish and set into hot water; bake until brown.

Another Way With Parsnips.—Clean the fresh vegetables and cut into narrow strips, put on to cook with a tablespoonful or two of butter for each pint of sliced parsnips, add no water, cover tightly and steam, cooking carefully until tender. There will be moisture enough in the vegetable to keep from burning. When tender add salt and pepper and stir until lightly browned.

Spanish Cream.—Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in one-half cupful of cold water. Cream the yolks of two eggs with one-half cupful of sugar. Pour over these the gelatin, stirring all the time, adding a pint of hot milk. Add a pinch of salt and flavor. Put back in a double boiler and cook as thick as boiled custard. Cool and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Put into a mold and set away to chill.

Dumplings.—Take one beaten egg, one cupful of buttermilk, one-half teaspoonful of salt—if buttermilk is sweet add no soda, if slightly sour add a pinch of soda—flour to make a drop batter, adding two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Drop into a hot stew of meat or chicken and cover at once; cook from eight to twelve minutes, according to size of the dumplings.

Forests Gave Name to Land of Holland

Allow me to give another explanation of the name of Holland. All the land along the North sea was in the time before Christ mostly delta land from the outlets of the Rhine, Neuse and Schelde rivers. It was covered with high forest called in the old Batave language "Holt," and in modern Dutch "Hout." Therefore, "Holland" means nothing else than "Woodland." The original small principalities, all inhabited by the Bataves and Frieses, covered a country from Denmark to northern France and were called Netherlands. This is the exact name of the country, meaning lowlands. In the Thirty Years war, only the middle part of this country formed a republic; the northern part stayed under German rule, the southwest part under Belgium and France. The principal province of the United Provinces of the Netherlands was the province of Holland. The name Dutch, given to the Hollanders by England, is wrong. The Germans call themselves Deutschers and their country is Deutschland. In the Netherlands are living the descendants of the old Bataves and Frieses.—Pathfinder Magazine.

OUR DAILY PATTERN

A Comfortable Play Garment for Very Young Children.

5960. Checked gingham and linene are here combined. One could use challie, crepe of pongee.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 1, 2 and 3 years. A 1 year size will require 1¼ yards of 36 inch material, together with ¼ yard of contrasting material for facings on collar, sleeve and leg bands and for over laps.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

KINGSTON N. Y., DEC 16 1927.

New York has an alcoholic society whose members take the pledge not to drink liquor. Why not organize a society whose members pledge themselves to keep out of the hands of this country's children the Rollo books? They would not let a family starve with a child even for literary entertainment although it has a certain classic perfection of style not achieved by any other book.

The announcement is made that the prevalence of myopia or near-sightedness is due to the fact that the ancestors of the human race were blind before they evolved into monkeys. Opinion is there is something "fishy" about this, for if any creature, high or low, requires good eyesight that creature is the fish, which even at night is compelled to see a long way through water in order to escape its enemies and forehandedly pounce on its prey.

When Mark Antony, standing over slain Caesar, called upon friends, Romans and countrymen to "lend" him their ears he little dreamed a time would come when a much larger audience would be invited to sell one car. Mark would be even more surprised to learn that the New York woman who lost an car in an accident, is arranging to get another for $2,500 to $4,000 from a Chicago woman, the latter confessing to a reporter that she thinks a splendid fur coat will console her for her loss.

The mighty plum pudding designed for King George's table on Christmas can hardly be called a home product. Of its seventeen ingredients England is said to provide the bread crumbs, the flour and the beer, and Ireland the eggs, but the others come from Australia, South Africa, Canada, New Zealand, the West Indies, Ceylon, Zanzibar, the Straits Settlements, India, Cyprus and Jamaica. This pudding of a world-girdling empire will be boiled twenty hours—presumably with a view to lessen the peril to the royal digestion.

SUFFRAGE DISILLUSION.

A political millennium was predicted as a result of the enfranchisement of women. Shrewd observers of the human comedy admitted their doubts, but the leading feminists were quite sure and their confidence influenced many. It was assumed that women would stand solidly for every good cause, that their judgment as to what causes were best would be more or less infallible, and that they would reveal public spirit by answering the call of duty at the polls far more generally than men. Disappointment has followed in all these particulars. Women have divided on public questions about as largely as men, they have shown no better judgment in the matter of choice, they have neglected the ballot-box even more than men, and when they have voted at all for the most part blindly followed the dictate of party leaders. So now feminists are offering explanations or excuses, some of which are rather amusing. Alice Stone Blackwell, daughter of and herself a suffragist leader, says:

We are finding that women can be fooled as well as men. Suffrage was opposed by the moneyed interests because they thought women would favor humanitarian legislation. But the war developed the technique of concerted propaganda, and now we are the victims, with men, of the insidious influences of the capitalistic element. This element controls the press, the radio, the pulpit and other powerful channels through which their message can be spread.

There is an element of truth in this to the extent that the propaganda of a dominating industrialism is indeed powerful and far-reaching, but if feminist promises had been fulfilled the women voters would not be deceived, resolutely refusing, unlike so many of the men, to permit the wool to be pulled over their eyes. Woman suffrage has failed of its boasted aims, but it is a good sign that women leaders are ready to make confession.

LEARNING MORE ABOUT EPILEPSY.

One of the most distressing ailments, and one the cause of which the medical profession has yet to learn, is epilepsy or fits.

No matter where these unfortunate individuals happen to be, the attack comes on before they can protect themselves from falling. Although it is considered a nervous or brain condition, there is usually some stomach or intestinal disturbance that starts the attack. Some one has said that while the fire occurs in the brain, the match that starts the fire is a disturbance of stomach or intestine.

Operations have been performed, including the removal of the appendix and also portions of the large intestine, which have brought about immediate cures. Unfortunately a considerable number of these cases, after a few months or a few years, have had attacks again.

This is likely due to the fact that some condition of the body, some habit, some article of diet, some accumulated conditions in the abdomen, so affect the nerves supplying these parts that these nerves in turn interfere with the blood supply.

The blood vessels become constricted so that for the time being the circulation is almost at a standstill.

Now in conditions where the blood supply to the heart is interfered with, as in angina pectoris, it was found that anything that would open up the vessels would thereby get blood to the heart, and relieve the attack. For years inhaling amyl nitrite has been the ideal treatment, as it opens up the blood vessels. The patient inhales the fumes.

Acting on this idea two French physicians have been using these inhalations of amyl nitrite in cases of epilepsy. From 3 to 5 drops were poured on a compress, and renewed at each inhalation. The inhalations suppressed the convulsions, or actually prevented the seizures when given as soon as the first signs appeared.

This showed that the widening of the blood vessels in the abdomen can prevent an attack of epilepsy, and this knowledge may be a big step on the way toward finding out the cause of epilepsy.

DAILY LESSONS IN ENGLISH.

By W. L. Gordon.

Words Often Misused: Do not say "we have plenty enough paper". Say "we are plentifully supplied with paper".

Often Mispronounced: piquant. Pronounce pe-kant, e as in "me", a as in "ask", accent first syllable.

Often Misspelled: ephemeral.

Synonyms: hinder, prevent, retard, impede, limit, obstruct, check.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: PENITENT (adj.); repentant, "His penitent attitude appealed to the jury."

Toast With Honors

The reference to drinking a toast "with all the honors three" is to the cheers with which a toast is greeted. Some toasts are drunk standing, such as a toast to one's country, and are often received with hurrahs three in number, or, in case of great enthusiasm, with three times three.

Events Around The Empire State

(By The Associated Press.)

Watertown—Action will be sought at the next session of the legislature on a proposal to have the state take over the old battlefield at Sacketts Harbor, near here, where in 1812 the American Army repulsed invading British forces. The property, which borders on Lake Ontario, and is now marked by a simple stone monument, is owned by the village and by the Jefferson County Historical Society, both of which are willing to cede their rights to the state.

Geneva—A record of swimming in Seneca Lake every month in the year is being sought by George Slate, on the staff of the New York State Experimental Station here. Slate has enjoyed Seneca's waters during every month but January, February and March, and in 1928 he hopes to achieve the honor of conquering it during those three. Friends will accompany him as far as the lake shore.

St. Johnsville—The engineer of N. Y. 4 of the West Shore railroad toots a thankful blast of his whistle daily as he passes the home of Mrs. Julia Walrath, 67, in this village. Recently Mrs. Walrath was notified by telephone that this train was to pass her home in a few minutes with a broken brakebeam which might at any moment cause a wreck.

Grabbing a lantern, the elderly woman ran out in pouring rain to the West Shore track and flagged the train. The broken beam was repaired in 25 minutes. Railroad men declared they owed their safety to Mrs. Walrath's action.

Adirondack Valley—Sherry Marshall was the most surprised man in the big woods when he recently found a woodchuck in one of his traps. Woodchucks in this section of the state are usually doing their annual Rip Van Winkle by the last of November, but the unusually mild weather of the present winter has resulted in the woods folk who hibernate, staying out until an unusually late date.

Dannemora—Michael J. O'Neill was badly injured in a most unusual accident. As he walked along a street a large dog that was bounding about ran against him. He was thrown to the pavement with such force he suffered a fracture of the right wrist and his knee was dislocated.

Au Sable Forks—Former Assemblyman Raymond T. Kenyon recently shot a red fox that measured sixty-three inches from nose tip to tail tip and weighed eighteen and one-half pounds. It was one of the largest foxes to be killed in this section of the Adirondacks in many years.

Probing Death of Major Byrne

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP).—Army officers investigating the death of Major Charles L. Byrne, professor of Spanish at the military academy, have not determined whether it was by suicide or by accident. The officer's body was found Tuesday at the bottom of a forty foot quarry hole.

The autopsy, according to Major George A. Andrews, assistant adjutant, showed that Major Byrne's death was due to the fall. Rumors that the officer had shot himself were officially denied, and it was stated that there was no bullet wound.

Whether Major Byrne accidently fell over the cliff, or deliberately jumped to his death will be considered by a military court of inquiry composed of three officers. It was said at the academy that he had been despondent for several months.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Saturday, December 17.

Christmas carols sung by a chorus through the microphone of WSAC at 5:00 o'clock will be a fitting program to include in the list of highlights for Saturday night. Another interesting program has been arranged by the High Jinkers for radiation at 7:15 by WEAF, WJZ, WCAE and WGR. This will be in the form of a radio revue and will feature among other pre-eminent personalities, the Happiness Boys, Cities Service Cavaliers, the Eveready Ladies, Minstrel Brothers and others too numerous to mention. At 8:00 o'clock WJZ and the Blue network will broadcast the weekly concert by the New York Symphony orchestra under the direction of Walter Damrosch. At 9:00 these same stations will present the Philco hour in which will be heard the musical play "Havana" with James T. Powers, a member of the original New York cast in the leading role. The annual dinner of the Pennsylvania Society will be made public by WNYC beginning at 9:30. In this will be heard Governor John S. Fisher, Charles M. Schwab, and Dr. Virgil Jordan, famous humorist.

5 Red Russians Killed at Canton

South China Post Says Five Red Russians Paid Supreme Penalty—Commissioned By Moscow To Destroy Canton.

Hong Kong, Dec. 16 (AP)—The South China Morning Post today printed the following dispatch from Canton:

"Five Red Russians, who were commissioned by Moscow to direct the spoliation and destruction of Canton have paid the extreme penalty for their iniquities. They were caught when the White army counter-attacked.

"The need for a trial, which could only have had one result, was a thing nobody thought of.

"They were led to a vacant lot not far from the central police station.

"Five times rifles spat their leaden charge. Five bodies in turn wilted to rise no more.

"When a detachment of soldiers broke into the Soviet consulate Wednesday afternoon it is reported they found that the consul general had left his colleagues to whatever fate the gods might have in store for them and had departed from Canton.

"Russians and Chinese, men and women, everyone on the premises from the vice-consul down to the clerks, was forced to accompany the soldiers to the bureau of public safety. It was a sad procession that marched along dusty roads where once the same individuals had ridden in state, honored as advisers, teachers and assistants to the high officials of the Koumintang government. Their arms were now pinioned behind them, a line of soldiers flanking either side. Some say at least one of the former consular staff has been executed, but official confirmation is lacking."

Recognize Change of Sex

Self-determination of sex is legal in Albania. A woman may become a man at will, wear a man's clothes and lead a man's life. Furthermore she may change back if she decides she wants to marry. However, her husband is then required by local etiquette to kill any man to whom his wife was engaged before she changed her sex.

Name Matter of Dispute

Mary is the Hebrew form of the Greek name Miriam. It is variously translated "rebellion" and "full of bitterness." The exact meaning however, is a matter of dispute. Many modern writers, especially American and English, maintain that the name means "the exalted one."—Exchange

Counter-Proposition

An American in London, desperate and empty in the depths of his wealth, was showing his little son through a zoological garden. "Now, you can't go to the wolf's cage, you know, because you might get eaten up by the little boy there."

"Huh!" grunted the little boy, with an air of the profoundest possible disgust, "I'd like to see him try it!"—Boston Transcript.

Her Interest

A lady who has a great interest in her servants and their welfare recently engaged a new maid.

"Have you any special interest, Mary?" she asked in her kind way. "Anything you are taking up or that you care about?"

"Well, mum," replied the simple Mary, "I 'ave been talking up with the baker's boy, but I don't know as 'ow I cares for 'im much."—Weekly Scotsman.

Moran Students Hear Heimerle

A special assembly of the students of the Moran Business School, Burgevin Building, corner Fair and Main streets, was called on Wednesday morning for the purpose of listening to a highly instructive address sparkling with apt and wise ideas delivered by Francis W. Heimerle, superintendent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

After giving the students a lesson in the mathematics of insurance, Mr. Heimerle, basing his remarks on personal observations over a period of twenty years, presented for the consideration of his youthful audience three important propositions: (1) the wisdom of choosing the right vocation and then training for it; (2) the absolute necessity of guarding one's character and reputation; (3) the intrinsic worth of service in the world of business, special reference being made throughout to the application of these principles to the insurance business.

"Character," said Mr. Heimerle, "is what we are; reputation is what other think us to be. Men are, in a sense, merchandise. When they go out into the open market to sell themselves or to get a job, they are selling a commodity. Merchandise to be salable must be made attractive. So, individuals must give attention to their personal appearance. Young ladies seem to realize this fact more keenly than boys. It is important that the young men learn to sell themselves through their personality.

Appearance and Character.

"Each and every one of you young men will have to make a living for yourself and perhaps for one of these young ladies as well. To do this you must find a job. If, in approaching an employer, your appearance is favorable, the impression you make will doubtless also be favorable; but if you do not watch yourself, some action, word or expression may reverse and offset the impression created originally.

"It must be remembered, however, that the employer does not judge you entirely by this first or superficial impression. There is another factor to which he attaches even more importance—something that personality does not always truly reflect—namely, character. In the employment department of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, the principal requirement is, reputation-able character. The same holds true in every other important business organization. Therefore, all you young people must guard your character and your good name as your most valuable possession.

"Often men with apparently winning personalities do not seem to wear well. They are not unlike the piece of merchandise that has sold itself on style and appearance, but which cannot withstand the test of use and ownership association, because it was not made of the right fabric. The owner, becoming displeased and disappointed, discards it. In like manner do men discard the associate or employe who, although creating a favorable first impression, does not wear well because of defects in character."

Value of Courtesy.

Mr. Heimerle spoke at length on the favorable reaction that always follows courteous service to others—the cheerful performance of little acts for which one is not specifically employed or paid—the attitude of personal interest manifested by the employe. "Service," he said, "constitutes the biggest single element in the success of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, the largest financial institution in the world. If you can learn this lesson of service, I believe that you will enjoy a distinct advantage over your competitors and fellow-workers."

In closing, Mr. Heimerle, addressing his remarks particularly to the boys, urged them to try to determine the line of effort they wished to follow and then train themselves for it. "Endeavor to develop an interest in and a liking for some particular occupation and then prepare for it. Despite the competition you will encounter when you go out into the world, you will have a splendid chance for the attainment of lasting success."

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, Dec. 15.—Carl Beatty of New York spent the week end at his home.

Mrs. Kimmel of Brooklyn is visiting Mrs. R. Haerer.

Mrs. Henry Green entertained with a card party Tuesday evening. R. Haerer and Walter Henry received the consolation prizes. A very fine lunch was served. Dancing and other games were enjoyed.

The Christmas party which is held every year in the Grange Hall will be given Monday night, December 19. A good time is expected. Gifts will be exchanged at this party as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Culver and family spent Sunday with relatives in Amenia.

The Parent-Teacher Association will meet in the school on Friday at 3 p. m. The program will be in charge of Mrs. Ray Culver.

A large number attended the meeting of the W. H. M. S. which was held in the parsonage of the M. E. Church last week. Mrs. Alice Merring of Liberty, N. Y., gave a splendid address on the work. The study books were given out and subjects for the next meeting. A Queen Esther Society was organized with Mrs. Roscoe Lockwood in charge.

The Christmas entertainment of the M. E. Sunday school will be held in the Sunday school rooms December 22 at 7 p. m. A fine program has been provided, after which a party will be held, the refreshments being in charge of Mrs. John Palen and Mrs. Roscoe Lockwood.

The M. E. Sunday school will meet at 9:45 in charge of Oscar Wood, superintendent. The worship service is very helpful to all. Mrs. Gladys Ford will be in charge of it this month. At 11 a. m. the pastor, the Rev. J. Holmes Smith, will bring the message. "Burning and Shining for Christ". The children's object lesson which is of great interest to them will be given just before the preaching service.

The community gospel service will be held in the Reformed Church at 8 o'clock, the Rev. C. Van Tol in charge. The message for the evening will be given by the Rev. J. Holmes Smith who has chosen as his subject "Second Things First." There will be special music by the choirs.

Mrs. William George of Liberty, N. Y., visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crawford for a few days the beginning of the week.

The Men's Community Club will meet in the basement of the Reformed Church on Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock. Every member is urged to be present for the annual election of officers will take place.

The choir of the Reformed Church will meet for weekly practice on Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at the parsonage instead of Thursday night.

All those taking part in the Christmas pageant of the Reformed Sunday school are urged to be at the practice on Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the basement of the church. The date of the pageant is December 27 at the Grange Hall. The title of the pageant is "The Pathway of Promise". The public is cordially invited to attend and an evening of wholesome entertainment is promised to all who are present. As has been the custom in past years no admission will be charged but an offering will be taken for the benefit of the Near East relief work.

Charles Hasbrouck spent the week end at home and returned early Monday morning to Tuxedo Park where he is employed by Matthew Hasbrouck.

Sunday worship will be held at the Reformed Church at 10:30 o'clock. The pastor, the Rev. C. Van Tol, has chosen as his theme "More Than Conquerors". The public is cordially invited to the church with a friendly spirit. Sunday school will convene at 11:45 o'clock, with L. D. Sahler in charge, to study the lesson, "The Early Prophets of Israel". This will be a review of the lessons of the last quarter. C. E. will meet at 7 o'clock with Mrs. William Roosa as the leader. Her subject will be "God's Kindness and Our Own".

Forst Explains Beef Prices

C. Forst, local branch manager for Armour & Co., makes the following statement in regard to and explanation of the present state of the beef market:

Current beef prices which have occasioned discussion in the press are not due to any scarcity of meat, though there is a temporary shortage of certain kinds of beef. Last week carcass prices ranged from 22 to 28 c. a lb. This represents an increase of about 25 per cent over a year ago and though there is an ample supply of wholesome, palatable beef, the kind which makes choice roasts and steaks is wholesaling at the highest prices which have prevailed since the war.

There is a situation which is bringing prosperity to the farmers and stock raisers of the country. Live cattle prices have been very low for a number of years and many producers have been bankrupted. This naturally resulted in the discouragement of producers and a reduction of herds so that the present year found a supply that was not adequate to the demand of a prosperous country. Cattle prices accordingly have advanced and the cattleman's dollar today comes very close to having a pre-war value. This has been an important factor in the rehabilitation of the agricultural sections of the country.

Economic laws will work to keep a proper balance between the consumers' demand and the farmers' output. The existence of a plentiful supply of pork, veal, lamb, and many grades of beef priced materially below those grades which are now causing comment, will enable the consumers to obtain their requisite meat supplies even while the temporary shortage of long fed cattle keeps the highest quality beef at top figures.

It should be remembered by those who are agitated over the beef price situation that prior to this year consumers have been purchasing beef at times below cost of production. Such a situation is no more desirable from the standpoint of the nation, as a whole, than are the present high prices. Calmness and good management on the part of consumers will tend to bring supply and demand back to a parity.

As the situation stands at the moment, those who can afford to pay record prices for beef are helping to put the nation's farmers back on their feet, while those who cannot pay these record prices can obtain wholesome high grade meat, other than beef.

Important Rediscovery

In Egyptian tombs have been found pieces of a brilliant scarlet, nontransparent glass, the composition of which has puzzled generations of scientists. In the Fifteenth century the Chinese rediscovered the secret of this glass, but again the recipe was lost, to be refound by Sir Herbert Jackson, who showed some of it before the British Royal Institution.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Dec. 15.—Mr and Mrs. Frank McLaughlin and daughter, Theresa, are spending the winter in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Mrs. Louise McElrath is on her way home with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Cooley, and Mr. Cooley of Newburgh. They have been in Florida since the middle of November. Mrs. McElrath will spend the rest of the winter with the Cooleys in Newburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Velie spent Monday and Tuesday in New York city.

William Nicklin, who is attending college in Troy, and Russell, who is attending Pratts Institute in Brooklyn, spent the week end at their home here.

Miss Mary McLaughlin has returned home after visiting her brother, John, in Connecticut.

Next Sunday evening the choir of the Presbyterian Church will render the cantata, "The Shepherd King."

Mr. and Mrs. William Fowler and Miss Jennie Baxter left for Miami, Florida, on Monday.

Mrs. John Bloom, who has been spending the past summer and fall with her sister, Mrs. Goodgion, in Wallkill, has returned home to be with her son, Charles, while the rest of the family have gone to Florida for the winter.

Miss Alice DuBois, who teaches in Hyde Park, spent the week end at her home here.

Thomas Newell, Jr., spent Thursday at Coxsackie.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. R. O. Froemel entertained 23 little children at a birthday party in honor of her little daughter's eighth birthday. The dining room was prettily decorated in Christmas colors, red and green. The children after an enjoyable hour spent playing games, was escorted to the dining room, where a table was prettily laid with doilies on which was served. The favors were little green baskets filled with red and white candy. Ethel, in whose honor the party was held, received a number of pretty gifts from her young friends who upon leaving wished her many returns of the day. Mrs. Froemel was assisted by Mrs. A. B. Smith, Mrs. William Froemel, Mrs. P. McMullen and Mrs. Harold Prairer.

Mrs. Thomas Newell spent Monday evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. Owen Connor, at Highland.

John Ryan of Poughkeepsie spent the week end at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cunningham of Newburgh spent Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Mertes entertained friends at dinner on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hadden of Newburgh spent Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Newell.

Mrs. Jane McCarthy is spending the winter with her daughter and husband, Dr. and Mrs. Mc Carthy, in Brooklyn.

CONSTIPATION MURDERS SLEEP

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings prompt, safe relief—guaranteed!

Nervousness, [illegible] headaches, insomnia are often the direct result of constipation. Sometimes even [illegible] cases will yield to the regular use of this delicious cereal. Just two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. You'll enjoy it!

ALL-BRAN is delicious with milk or cream, and add fruits or honey. Crisp, ready to eat. Mix it, too, with other cereals. Use it in cooking. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold and served everywhere. Recipes on package.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because it is "bulk with efficiency." It relieves constipation in nature's own way. Does a work no part-bran product can equal. Simply eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic [illegible] is guaranteed to give relief.

INDISCREET WOMAN GAINS FAVOR OF FEDERAL COURT

Russian Granted Citizenship Despite Evidence Produced of Acts of "Foolishness."

New York.—Lonely women who stoop to folly and learn that men betray, may be "foolish or indiscreet," but in the eyes of the federal government they are not "immoral," and may not be barred from citizenship on account of errors of the emotions.

So Federal Judge Robert A. Inch ruled in Brooklyn in admitting to citizenship an applicant whom the naturalization officials had sought to bar on the ground of alleged immorality.

The young woman was Mrs. Maria Draginsky, twenty-four, of Brooklyn. She was accompanied by her father, Samuel Ganshanok, a naturalized citizen.

Representatives of the naturalization bureau opposed her application. Ten years ago, in Russia, it developed, she had fallen in love with a young man. They became intimate, but for some reason did not marry.

Later she married another man, Dmitri Draginsky, and they had a son, George, now eight. She came to this country in August, 1921. She and her husband separated, and she and her son live with her father.

The father hotly defended his daughter against the charge of naturalization officials that she was an immoral woman in the eyes of the law.

"My daughter is not immoral," he exclaimed. "Foolish she was, maybe, but no bureau or court can make her immoral by edict for an indiscreet surrender."

Judge Inch agreed with him.

Information concerning her "indiscretion" in Russia is said to have been furnished to the naturalization officials by her husband.

Twins Wed Twins; Eight Sets of Twins Follow

Arcadia, Ind.—The story of twin boys who married twin girls in 1835, was brought to light here recently when M. C. Martz of Arcadia and Clayton Martz of Tipton, Ind., twin sons born of one of the marriages, celebrated their seventieth birthday.

The sequence started when Moses and Isaac Martz married Tabitha and Lavina McCormick, near Connersville, Ind. The parents of the McCormick twins were among the first settlers of Indianapolis, making their home there February 20, 1820, on the day before the fourth birthday of the twin girls.

In the first generation following these marriages there were two sets of twins in the families, and in the second generation six sets of twins were born.

The four participants in the double marriage of twins in 1835 all lived until they had passed the four score mark, and the last survivor of the four, Tabitha Martz, died in her ninetieth year.

The figure "27" ran through the history of these four. The McCormick twins were born on February 27, and the Martz twins on May 27. The four were married on November 27.

The families were represented at the time of the death of Tabitha Martz by eight grandchildren, fifty-three great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild. The record to date shows 75 great-grandchildren and 40 great-great-grandchildren.

44 Oklahoma Counties Now Producing Oil

Woodward, Okla.—Forty-four of the seventy-seven counties in Oklahoma now produce oil, and some of the other counties expect to be in the oil limelight before many moons. There are few districts in the state where oil is not found in some quantity.

Every time a barrel of oil gushes from a well in Oklahoma it brings up 50,000 different kinds of ingredients, according to Dr. Charles N. Gould, director of the Oklahoma geological survey, and other experts. Some estimates do not run that high, for as yet research has failed to exhaust the number of products that can be refined from crude oil. The Mariand Oil company is extracting about 300 by-products from petroleum that can be put to practical use. There are hundreds of other extractions, but their value is unknown.

The total agricultural, oil, gas and minerals production in Oklahoma for the year 1926 amounted to the stupendous sum of $1,000,450,000. Of this amount, $500,121,000 was produced from oil, gas and minerals.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

The annual meeting of the stockholders of The First National Bank of Rondout, for the election of directors, will be held at the banking house, No. 10 Broadway, in the City of Kingston, on Tuesday, January 10, 1928, between the hours of 11 a. m. and 12 noon.

Republicans Meet To Discuss Plans

Dinner Given by Onondaga County Committee in Honor of Mayor Hanna of Rochester Takes on Additional Significance of State-wide Character.

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP).—The largest up-state gathering of Republicans since the state convention of the party in Rochester last September will take place here tonight with the assembling of some 700 party leaders and adherents at a dinner in honor of Mayor Charles G. Hanna of this city.

In effect, party leaders believe, the gathering will be an unofficial state convention, for although the Onondaga county committee as host has announced it as a purely social meeting to mark the re-election of Mayor Hanna by the largest plurality ever given a local candidate, the prominence and influence of many of the guests gives it a distinct political significance.

The dinner itself will be a perfunctory affair, given over to brief addresses by Charles D. Hilles, Republican National Committeeman; George K. Morris, chairman of the state committee; Mayor Hanna and others. Before and after it, however, there are expected to be a series of conferences at which the political policies of the party are slated for more or less serious discussion. It will be the first opportunity for many of the leaders to talk over the state political situation since the Rochester convention, and it is generally conceded that that gathering failed to offer much of an opportunity because of other business.

Informal Discussion Invited.

Invitations to the dinner, sent out by Clarence R. King, chairman of the Onondaga county committee, hinted at the possibility of discussion in these words: "There is a profound feeling in this section that this occasion could serve for an informal discussion among Republican leaders of future plans for our party in New York state." Many of the replies accepting the invitations have referred specifically to this paragraph, and have expressed the hope that earnest discussion might take place.

Whether the gathering will bring out mention of any Republican gubernatorial possibilities is questioned by many Republicans in this vicinity.

Legislative Topics Timely.

Coming but two weeks prior to the convening of the 1928 legislature, party leaders are more generally inclined to view the dinner as an opportunity to talk over legislative policies. Senator John Knight, majority leader of the upper house, already has predicted that the session will be a short one because of the state and national political activities next year, and legislative machinery has started to grind, so that the topic would be a timely one, it is thought here.

Acceptances to the dinner, which will be held at the Hotel Syracuse, have come from practically every prominent Republican in the state. Over two score Assemblymen, a dozen Senators, chairman of nearly every up-state Republican county committee, and Republican mayors of a number of cities plan to come, while reports at the city hall here indicate that dinner reservations have been made for a group of former New York state officials now in federal service at Washington, including Theodore Douglas Robinson, assistant secretary of the navy. Several Congressmen have accepted. Clarence E. Hancock, recently-elected Representative from this city, will act as toastmaster.

WHERE YOU MEET YOUR FRIENDS

Happenings at ComforterChurch

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Church of the Comforter was held in the church hall Wednesday afternoon. Forty of the members were present and a lot of business was transacted. The year of work has been most successful under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Hicks, the retiring president. The society voted unanimously to give $150 towards the church hall debt. This makes $1,425 which this organization has contributed since December, 1926, besides considerable amounts that they have contributed in other directions.

The following were elected as officers for the year 1928: Mrs. Frank W. Barham, president; Mrs. George Shufeldt, first vice president; Mrs. D. H. Whitney, second vice president; Mrs. Frank L. Brown, secretary and Mrs. R. D. Kelder, treasurer. The following ladies were chosen as chairladies for 1928: Mrs. Charles Hicks, for the months of February and March; Mrs. Fred Rich, for April and May; Mrs. Frank L. Brown, for September and October; and Mrs. M. Edgar Powley for November and December.

After the business everyone was invited to the dining room where tables were attractively arranged and dainty refreshments were served. On the tables were candelabra and candle sticks with lighted candles and at one end a birthday cake with twenty-five candles in honor of Mrs. Rufus D. Kelder, who has been the efficient treasurer of the society for twenty-five years. Mrs. Theodore Floyd presented to Mrs. Kelder in behalf of the society a ten dollar gold piece and told how the ladies appreciated her great faithfulness and loyalty during these years. Then Mrs. George Shufeldt presented a beautiful bouquet. Mrs. Kelder, who was taken completely by surprise, spoke of the pleasure it had been for her to have been of service and thanked the ladies most heartily for remembering her and the love which she felt was back of the gift. Then Mrs. Frank Brown presented a beautiful bouquet of carnations to Mrs. Charles Hicks, the retiring president, as a slight token of appreciation of her earnest and successful leadership. Taken all together the afternoon was a very happy one.

News From the World on Wheels

On invitation of Benito Mussolini, the fifth World Motor Transport Congress will meet in Rome during September, 1928, according to word received by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce from George F. Bauer, manager of its foreign department, who is now addressing groups of automobile men in the Balkan countries and southeastern Europe.

Motor trucks carried 555,792 hogs to the Omaha market in the first eight months of 1927, which is more than were brought in by trucks during the entire year of 1926 and almost twice as many as were shipped by truck in 1923.

With the recent scrapping of its street car equipment by the Reno Traction Co., the state of Nevada is now left without a single trolley car. Busses are now supplying transportation formerly given by the rail line. There are now two states which have no trolley cars, Wyoming having been the first to abandon that method of transportation.

"Thirteenth" Woman Can Find No Husband

Berlin.—There are 800,000 "superfluous" women in Berlin which means that every thirteenth woman must look elsewhere for a husband. But the Berlin women are employing their time otherwise. Every third one is engaged in a gainful occupation outside the home. In the labor market there is one woman to every two men.

Only one-tenth of the Berlin homes have servants, so that another 1,200,000 women are engaged in running their own domestic establishments, it is estimated. This brings the number of working women up to around 2,000,000, as against only 1,400,000 working men.

Buy Something for the Home.

By Douglas Malloch.

Buy something for the baby,
For mother, too, and dad,
A doll for sister, maybe,
An engine for the lad,
And yet, this glad December,
As up and down you roam,
The finest gift, remember,
Is something for the home!

Though something for a minute,
Some heart a moment cheers,
The gift with Christmas in it
Is something for the years.
The little gifts are pleasant,
The gifts as light as foam,
But, for the great big present,
Buy something for the home!

There isn't any other
That hearts will hold as fast,
That pleases dad and mother
Like something that will last.
A chair, a table near it,
A lamp to light the gloam—
To bring the Christmas spirit,
Buy something for the home!

Yes, the burden of the sexes seem to be fairly evenly divided after all and the young man has to listen to his father tell how little money he got along very comfortably on at that age, while the girl has to be informed almost daily how long her mother used to wear the same party dress.

ORE THROAT IS DANGEROUS

Thoxine Relieves Quickly

Don't neglect sore throat—it often leads to tonsilitis, scarlet fever or diphtheria. Take Thoxine, a famous physician's prescription, which is remarkably successful because it works on a new principle—goes direct to the cause not reached by gargles and patent medicines and gives relief within 15 minutes, or money back. One swallow does the work.

Contains no iron, chloroform or other harmful drugs. Safe and sure, pleasant to take—much better than gargles. Ask for Thoxine, 35c, 60c and $1.00. Sold by Kingston Central Pharmacy and all good drug stores.

Club Federation Executives Meet

Recent Card Party Netted $206.86 for Local Federation of Women's Clubs—Christmas Seal Sale Making Progress.

The December meeting of the executive committee of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs which was held at the Kingston City Library on Thursday afternoon, received a very favorable report from the recent card party given for the Federation.

Mrs. Edgar N. Palen, the president, presided. Following the routine business the report of the card party committee, Mrs. Cornelius Treadwell chairman, was given, showing the net receipts to be $206.86, a much appreciated sum. The corresponding secretary was instructed to send a note of thanks and appreciation to Mrs. Treadwell and all the members of her committee for the splendid service rendered the Federation, and the club representatives were asked to thank their clubs for their support.

A communication from the local committee of the Near East Orphan Relief Committee, the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley, secretary, was read, asking the Federation to join with other local organizations in adopting one or more orphans. As the final action in such an important matter would have to be taken by the General Federation of the city, it was decided to further investigate the matter and report for action at the next executive committee meeting which will immediately precede the January open meeting.

The affiliated clubs reported holiday vacations in order and some form of Christmas cheer being given by most of the clubs.

Mrs. Monroe, president of the Coterie, which will be the entertaining club at the January open meeting, announced that they hoped to present Crystal Bird, reader, lecturer and singer, whose topic for the afternoon would be "The True Meaning of the Negro Spiritual." This meeting will occur the third Saturday in January.

Christmas Seal Sale.

In the absence of Dr. Day, chairman of the public health committee, Mrs. O'Meara stated that the Christmas tuberculosis seal sale was going well, in spite of the fact that practically half of the letters sent out had not been heard from. Those in charge of the sale have a big task on their hands since over 10,000 letters were sent out into the county. They hope to have the tentative report, which they will be asked for the first of January, quite well completed, if only the people of the county who have not sent in their money for the seals will do so very promptly. While they feel that it would be hard to imagine any very good and unselfish reasons for not helping in this work which safeguards the entire community, they do realize that there may be cases in which to take a dollar's worth of the seals may be impossible. In any such extreme case the persons are asked to promptly return the seals in the envelopes provided them for so doing.

Mrs. Reed gave an abbreviated report for the good government and movie committees, which showed the movie theatre managers as trying to keep their performances fit to be seen and heard, and the police force as ready to assist in this important matter.

Miss Healy, chairman of the membership committee, reported one new member who was unanimously accepted into the Federation, Mrs. E. H. Tindale.

While the president had planned to give a brief report of the State Federation convention which she attended, at the January open meeting, she did make mention of the fact that at one of the meetings when delegates were asked for contributions to the Thomas Jefferson Memorial, Mrs. John N. Cordts, for the Kingston Federation, contributed $10. The corresponding secretary was instructed to send Mrs. Cordts a note of thanks for her generosity and loyalty to her Federation.

This brought the meeting to a close.

CHANUKAH PROGRAM AT JEWISH CENTER

In 165 B.C., unable to bear any longer the oppression of the Greeks and Syrians, the Jews, under Judas Maccabeus, revolted, and after four years of fighting drove out the enemy and breathed freely. The Temple, which the heathen had defiled, was again cleansed and rededicated to the worship of the True God—hence, Chanukah, the Feast of Dedication which begins on the twenty-fifth of Kisley, each year and lasts for eight days.

The festival is observed by lighting candles each evening. Beginning with one the first evening, one is added each successive night till eight are lighted the last night of the feast. This symbolizes the miracle which occurred at the rededication, when a jug containing one day's supply of oil burned for eight days.

The local Jewish community will begin the Feast of Dedication with a Chanukah program given at the Jewish Community Center Sunday evening, December 18. The public is invited.

What May Be Called Fine Art of Cursing

The Jews possess the unique dis-tinction of being the world's champion cursers, one of their own number de-clares in The Reflex. This writer fur-ther points out that the Old Testa-ment contains more cursing than any other great book of literature.

"Cursing," he says, "is common to all oriental peoples, but neither the Arab nor Hindu, Chinese or Japanese displays as much fantasy as does the eastern Jew. In doing that he follows an old tradition. Cursing is the one thing that is not forbidden to the Jew. He may curse and bless to his heart's desire, but his life is such that he has more opportunity to curse than to bless. Yet the curses have their savor. The literary merit of Jewish curses is high. They form a distinct artistic contribution.

"For instance: 'May you possess sixty castles with sixty rooms in each castle, and may there be sixty beds in each room, and may you be shaken from bed to bed, from room to room, from castle to castle.' Or, 'May I live to see you on one foot and may you have only one eye with which to see me.' Or, 'May God send upon you four mothers-in-law.'

"But the real cursing that is done in Vilna, Kovno or Crakow is straight, bitter and plain. It is shocking in its brutality; it is brief and to the point. For example, 'May the earth not ac-cept you'; 'the cholera unto you'; may the dogs eat your body and poison their stomachs'; 'may God send a dis-ease into your house so that you shall not be able to move'; may the stars spit upon you'; or, 'may your body swell like a mountain.'"

And the prayer was answered.

Famous Battles Compared

The battle of the Wilderness, in the Civil war, and the Meuse-Argonne engagement, during the World con-flict, both were fought through tan-gled brush, and both were long and slow against obstinate resistance, with very heavy casualties. But the Meuse-Argonne lasted six times as long as the battle of the Wilderness. Twelve times as many soldiers were engaged as were on the Union side, and they used ten times as many guns and fired 100 times as many rounds of ar-tillery ammunition. The actual weight of ammunition fired by Americans dur-ing the Meuse-Argonne battle was greater than that used by the Union forces during the entire Civil war.

Shawangunk Club Won Whipple Cup

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 16.—The beautiful silver loving cup offered as a prize to the club of sportsmen planting the greatest number of for-est trees during the year has just been awarded to the Shawangunk Fish & Game Association of Orange and Sullivan counties. The cup was presented during the annual session of the New York State Fish, Game & Forest League which has just con-cluded in Syracuse.

The cup is given by James S. Whip-ple, former commissioner of the State Conservation Commission, for the purpose of stimulating interest in the reforestation of idle and waste land in the State.

The New York State College of Forestry has been cooperating with several clubs of sportsmen as well as with organizations of business and professional men. The interest this year has been especially keen. As a result of this interest considerable [illegible] has been transformed into work-ing areas growing tree crops and at the same time furnishing cover for certain types of game, as well as the protection of watersheds against ex-cessive runoff.

The Shawangunk Fish & Game As-sociation, Middletown, N. Y., sur-passed all other clubs in planting or causing to be planted some [illegible] trees. The Cortland County Sports-men Association ranked second with [illegible] trees. The Orange Lake Fish & Game Association, Newburgh, N. Y., was third with 46,000.

Among the other leaders were: The Chemung County Rod & Gun Club, [illegible]; East Herkimer Fish & Game Club, 11,000; New Berlin Fish & Game Club, [illegible], and Sherrill Rod, Gun & Conservation Club, 6,000.

Draft Now Up To the Minors

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—Rumblings of a baseball war had subsided today as the major leagues stamped approval upon the scrapping of the draft system as proposed by the minor circuits.

This action, taken at a joint meeting of the National and American Leagues here yesterday, marked the close of baseball's gathering and left the next move over the draft situation up to the minors.

While the majors expressed willingness to terminate the major-minor league agreements on next January 14, when the seven year period of its operation expires, should the minors so desire, they also agreed to a truce until February 1, when the minors will make known their wishes.

Meantime, the present agreement stands. Abolition of the draft, which is not considered likely, would split the minors and majors into independent factions.

Without the joint understanding between the two groups as now prevails, there would be no draft, no rules on the sale or recall of players save those instituted by the majors.

Red Grange Never Will Coach

RED GRANGE has turned thumbs down on the idea of becoming a football coach. "If there's anybody in the world who takes more grief in the form of criticism than the President of the United States," Red said, "it's the coach of a college football team. None of that for mine." And he looked serious.

Red Grange.

Red said he would stay in the professional game a few years more. This year he expects to make another movie or two.

"Of course," the recumbent "galloping ghost" went on, with a glance at the woolen blankets under which lay one of his greatest assets, now slightly impaired by a stubborn case of water on the knee, "it all depends on how a man takes care of himself and whether he gets hurt."

"It was purely accidental," Grange declared of this first serious mishap that has overtaken him in his long football career, collegiate and professional. It occurred when Trefton, ex-Notre Dame star and center for the Bears, ran into him in a race for a forward pass on the field.

Bennie Friedman.

"Fun in this pro game," Red pursued his horizontal reflections. "These fellows who were all-Americans in college aren't half so tough as some of these birds from small colleges that you never heard of.

"Another thing—age doesn't seem to count. There are a lot of fellows thirty-five and thirty-six years old playing football in this league that we'd be mighty glad to get on the Yankees. They can put it all over the young lads of twenty-one or twenty-two, just out of college."

Grange failed to agree with the view of Bennie Friedman, ex-Michigan star, that the pro game was more exacting. "If I'd been at Illinois when I got this knee," he grinned. "I'd have been playing two weeks ago, knee or no knee. When you were a regular with a big game coming along you had to play."

Lieut. Col. Edward D. Miller, who served for many years with the British army in India, is known as "the father of polo." Since leaving the army he has devoted his time to the training of polo ponies.

Seasonal Jest

Athletic authorities declare but one man has ever turned the triple somersault. So we presume that records made while trying to carry an armload of canned fruit downstairs are unofficial and do not count.—Council Bluffs Nonpareil.

Cannot Call Grid Game on Account of Darkness

It is not generally known among football fans that a football game cannot be called because of darkness.

'Tis true, the umpire of a baseball game may call a game because of the interference of the elements, but the referee of a football game has no such power.

The length of periods are agreed upon before the start of the game, and as a rule they are played through to a finish.

The referee has this power, however: that if he feels there is any likelihood of the game being interfered with by darkness, he shall, before the game begins, arbitrarily shorten the four periods to such length as will insure four equal periods being completed.

He has the same power at the beginning of the second half, but only with the consent of the two captains.

If a fourth quarter is unexpectedly drawn out he has no authority to call the game, no matter how dark it may be.

Professionals Surpass in Judging Distances

One phase of golf in which the good professional almost always leads the good amateur is in judgment of distance, and Harold H. Hilton, the British expert, has evolved perhaps the most plausible theory to explain the difference. Writing in the American Golfer, Hilton says:

"Professionals will go out on a course entirely strange to them and make few errors, while many amateurs, even of the highest class, will be guilty of at least a few miscalculations.

"The leading professionals have many more opportunities of gaining knowledge in this matter than the amateur because the professional is constantly being called to play exhibition matches on courses he has never seen before."

The amateur, on the other hand, stays close to one or two courses, Hilton points out, and consequently rarely develops the pro's sense of judgment on new distances.

Sign Horween Again

Dollars Beckon French Bantam to These Shores

Young Ascensio, bantamweight, is another French pugilist who has heard the call of the dollar. He will shortly join the colony of foreign boxers who are making their temporary homes in the United States.

Ascensio is not a boxer, but he begins fighting from the sound of the gong. Many times during his five-year ring career in France the referee has had to tear him away from his opponent at the end of a fight.

Irish Lament

Ochone—Ok-o-on (the "o" hard, as in "go"), means "my sorrow," and has been for centuries a common expression for grief and mourning, and is heard at an Irish wake during the keenin (vocal dirge) or lament for the dead.

High School Team Holds Banquet

Annual Banquet of Football Team Addressed by Dean Distler and Football Captain Briante of New York University.

The annual banquet of Kingston High School football team was held under the auspices of the Hi-Y organization at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night. After a bounteous and delicious repast entertainment was furnished and encouraging talks given by guests from New York University.

Members of the football squad and Hi-Y, exceeding fifty, gathered in the banquet hall at the Y at 6:15 where they were served with a most delicious menu by the Hi-Y Auxiliary under the direction of Miss Ann Herzog, president; Miss Jacqueline Monroe, adviser, and Mrs. George DuBois of the Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary. The secretary of the Hi-Y was instructed by President Thompson to write a letter of commendation and thanks to the ladies who prepared and served it.

Entertainment was furnished by Frank Goss, xylophonist of the New York University Band, accompanied by Lawrence Huse, leader and manager of the university's glee club. The entertainers were heartily appreciated and they were forced to respond to encores.

President Thompson read letters from Coaches Sam J. Kalloch of Poughkeepsie High School and Edward Stevens of Newburgh Academy saying that they could not attend the banquet. Both congratulated Coach Kias of the Kingston High School eleven for the good work he did in turning out the gridiron team of the school the past season. The fine sportsmanship displayed by the local boys on the field was commended by the coaches.

Dean Distler Talks.

Dean T. A. Distler of New York University, where he is director of student welfare, was the first speaker. He advocated the results of interscholastic football and urged clean playing at all times. He denounced what he termed "official snoopers" who hunt for a chance to condemn athletic on the grounds that fair play is unobserved and said that players generally respond to the sort of tactics displayed by opponents. He urged the Kingston team to be gentlemen at all times, whether in the game of football or in life. Dean Distler extended congratulations to Coach Kias, the man who broke Kingston's losing streak, and his team.

Principal Van Ingen Awards K's.

Principal P. C. Van Ingen of the Kingston High School was the next speaker and praised the playing of Kingston's team. He cited occasions when the players were commended for their conduct on the gridiron and said he received not the slightest complaint while the team was playing away from home during the season. Mr. Van Ingen then awarded the K's to squad members: Coach Kias, Captain Smith Jones, captain of the 1926 eleven; Molyneaux, Moore, Mesaros, Clarke, Myers, Winkler, Brown, Mellenthill, Watts, Bruhn and Thompson. Cheer-leader Finger led a "yell" for the team and Coach Kias.

Coach Kias spoke briefly concerning the team. He said his charges were fine to work with and that he was proud of the honor of being the coach to break the losing streak of the team. He said he wished for continuation of success and reminded the team that it is what members put into the game that determines the outcome. He called attention to the good work rendered by Mr. Frazier of the high school faculty in assisting with the coaching. Both men were given a cheer.

A feature not scheduled next took place when Dean Distler and Dan Ecker, who spoke later in the evening, rendered a duet, accompanied by Frank Goss on the xylophone. It was only after prolonged requests that the singers responded owing to the limited time for the completion of the program. After the rendition, in perfect harmony and rhythm, the two singers were applauded to the echo.

Briante Tells of Team Work.

Frank Briante, captain of the N. Y. U. football team during 1926 and this year's leading yard gainer, with a total greater than that registered by the famous Red Grange, next spoke. He took for his topic, after many requests while on his visit here, the progress made by the N. Y. U. team this year. His summary in vivid fashion of the university's encounters on the gridiron was very much appreciated. At the conclusion of his talk he was requested to render a solo. He responded to the popular request and was accompanied through the strains of "Baby Face" by Frank Goss on the xylophone. Frank's novel way of using his vocal chords pleased immensely.

After several selections on the xylophone and piano by the Messrs. Goss and Huse, Dan Ecker, student secretary of New York University, spoke. He stressed the necessity of character in a winner and took for examples Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Gene Tunney. He cautioned the boys never to be afraid to say "no" to things they know are wrong. He closed with a quotation which he requested the Hi-Y members to remember, "Be true to thyself."

A dance will be held by the Hi-Y organization at the Y's Men's Club, Glenerie, Friday evening, December 30. President Thompson announced the date and requested that all the members attend to enjoy a delightful time. He also announced that the Hi-Y meeting would not be held next week.

Chandlers Have 3 Games Ahead

The Chandler basketball team is scheduled to meet the Chrysler team at the Y. M. C. A. court tonight at 8 o'clock. Saturday at 7 p. m. previous to the Industrial League games the Chandlers will do battle with the Kingston All Stars. The Chandlers expect to have hard going with both teams. The Chryslers made a good record last year on local courts and the All Stars have a quintet of Kingston's best court men.

Tuesday, December 20, the Chandlers will stack up against the Kingston High School team. It is not often that the high school is allowed to play teams other than in interscholastic contests, but as the Chandlers are a strictly amateur team it has been decided to permit the quintets to meet. The meeting will probably be a good test as to the ability of the school team as the Chandlers have been scoring over some fast teams in this vicinity.

You get a new angle on many a subject by the questions a small boy asks.

Maybe it requires more fortitude to meet trouble, sober, but fortitude is a good thing to cultivate.

Officious people think there "ought to be an organization" to act as auxiliary to the Resurrection.

We don't necessarily clamor for the truth if it is indecent and we have heard the same thing before.

Two of Earliest Books

What is believed to be the first book printed in England is William Caxton's "Recuyell of the Historye of Troye," published in 1474, a translation of Raoul de Fevre's work. However, Caxton's "Dictes and Notable Wise Sayings of the Philosophers," printed November 18, 1477, is the first book that can with certainty be maintained to have been printed in England.

The Fatherly Catfish

"The palm for unselfish parenthood should go to a species of catfish," says Capper's Weekly. "Although the male of this," continues the farm weekly, "is so constructed that he needs an unusually large amount of food and though he has the accompanying voracious appetite to satisfy it, he fills his mouth with the eggs laid by his mate and carries them until the eggs are hatched."

Liddbergh Spends Xmas in Mexico

tors cheered. Then addressing the assembly he said:

"I am thankful for all these distinctions which are being given to me in Mexico. I have not enough words to thank you for this."

The airman was lauded in speeches by several deputies. A banquet followed at which toasts were proposed to President Coolidge, Ambassador Morrow and Colonel Lindbergh.

Explains His Flight.

President Calles and the airman, earlier in the day, pored over a map of Mexico as the American explained through an interpreter, his flight and some of the fundamental points in flying and navigation.

Lindbergh listened to Mexican music until after midnight. An entertainment in his honor was given by the foreign office in one of Mexico City's largest theatres. Three thousand invited guests gathered there and the streets outside were thronged from early in the evening until Lindbergh left by crowds anxious to catch a glimpse of him.

Lindbergh sat in a box with President Calles, Ambassador Morrow, acting Foreign Ministra Estrada, Secretary of Treasury Montes De Oca, and Martinez De Alba, chief protocol of the Foreign Office. All the members of the cabinet and their families were in the other boxes as well as the entire diplomatic corps.

The gathering cheered for Lindbergh as he and Calles and Morrow entered. At one time during the evening they turned toward the box and shouted:

"Lindy, Lindy, Lindy."

The airman rose and stood at the edge of the box and smiled and bowed his thanks.

Will Fly To Panama.

Panama, Dec. 16 (AP)—The American ambassador of good will, Charles A. Lindbergh, will fly to Panama, President Chiari has informed the Associated Press. The date set for the flight has not been fixed.

President Chiari extended the invitation to Colonel Lindbergh on Tuesday. It was sent by telegram to New York. The President's telegram:

"I have the honor to invite you to visit Panama in my name and that of the people of Panama as an inspiration for the youth of the Isthmus, for promoting interest in the establishment of air service between Panama and the Canal Zone, and the United States, and for increasing good will between our countries and our peoples."

The reply of Lindbergh, cabled from Mexico City, as given out by President Chiari, read:

"Your Excellency's cordial invitation to visit Panama in the Spirit of St. Louis en route to Cuba is deeply appreciated and I accept with pleasure. Shall inform you soon as possible date of my arrival."

Reed Promises Complete Probe

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP).—An investigation to the "very bottom" of the source of the documents purporting to show creation of a $1,215,000 Mexican fund for four United States senators was promised today by Chairman Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, of the special senate committee.

After an executive meeting today the committee decided to go on to the trail of the documents which Miguel Avila said he bought for the Hearst papers.

There was a hint from the committee room that the American Secret Service might be asked to aid in the investigation. Already department of justice agents are with the committee, closely guarding the documents turned over to Chairman Reed yesterday by William Randolph Hearst.

Ice Halts Work On Shipyards

Owing to the icy conditions that existed today, work on some of the local boatyards was halted and the men returned to their homes. The ice that covered the barges under construction made work on them very dangerous and to prevent accidents all work ceased.

Trolley cars were trimmed with tiny icicles that festooned the roofs of the cars. Some automobiles also carried icicles hanging from the car tops.

The Hudson river is still open to navigation and towing is still in progress. The only ice that has formed along the river has been on the coves and inlets but the rising tide quickly broke it up.

Chinese Raid Soviet Consulate

Hankow Was The Scene of Intense Excitement When The Chinese Troops Occupy Former Russian and German Concessions.

Hankow, Dec. 16 (AP).—Chinese authorities raided the Soviet consulate here this morning.

All Russian and Chinese occupants were arrested. The authorities then proceeded to round up all Communists and all those suspected of being Communists throughout the city.

Hankow was the scene of intense excitement when the Chinese troops occupied the former Russian and German concessions and carried out a systematic house to house search for Communists.

Even dancing halls frequented were visited and it was estimated that virtually every Communist or suspect had been rounded up.

Early rising foreigners saw Russians of both sexes being marched off to jail in night attire, some barefooted and disheveled.

Many women were roped together and some screamed hysterically. One terrified girl jumped from a second story window and was seriously injured.

A number of those arrested were detained at the police station and it is believed that the Soviet consular officers themselves were taken to military headquarters.

Hypnotism Is Self-Made

Psychologists have learned that hypnotism is a condition that the mesmerized person's brings on himself. It is regarded as a stronger manifestation of the condition ordinarily called absent-mindedness. Mesmer, the great French hypnotist, was one of the first to use hypnotism on the stage.

EIGHT STUDENTS FROM SYRACUSE DISMISSED

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—The Syracuse Herald says today that eight students have been dismissed from Syracuse University for violation of the university rule against liquor drinking.

It was reported at the university, according to the Herald, that the action was taken after a party at Colgate University, the week prior to the Syracuse-Colgate football game. University officials refused to state the circumstances, but it was said that the party had been held in the Colgate gymnasium.

Troops Again Bar Oklahoma House

Oklahoma City, Dec. 16 (AP)—National guardsmen today again were stationed at entrances to the state Senate chamber by Governor Henry S. Johnston, preventing members of the House of Representatives from accepting the invitation of the Senate to meet in its rooms.

Barred from its own chamber by troops, the House had planned an attempt to use the Senate lounging rooms and committee rooms today to continue to consider further impeachment charges against Governor Johnston and other state officials.

The Senate before adjourning last night until December 28 organized as a court of impeachment to try Governor Johnston, Chief Justice Fred Branson of the supreme court and Harry Cordell, president of the state board of agriculture, on charges preferred by the House in self convened session.

A resolution was adopted by the Senate ordering the militia to allow House members to obtain records from their chambers and to use the Senate rooms.

Supported by court decisions holding the Legislature is not in legal session, Governor Johnston last Wednesday withdrew soldiers from the Senate chamber to permit the senators to meet as "citizens." The Senate, however, voted that its meetings were legal and decided to go forward with preparations for the trial of the executive.

Hears Motorists' Cases.

A commissioner from the state motor vehicle bureau was at county court chambers in the court house today hearing cases of motorists whose rights to operate motor vehicles have been suspended or revoked.

Alienists Called In Remus Trial

Cincinnati, Dec. 16 (AP)—The report of three court-appointed alienists finding George Remus sane when he shot and killed his wife here last October 6, was reduced to three paragraphs when presented as evidence in his murder trial today but the prosecution won the right to adduce most of it in verbal testimony.

It called Dr. Mabel Fernald, who gave Remus mental tests; a chemist who found Remus suffered from no blood disease sometimes associated with insanity, and at the mid-day recess Dr. Davis I. Wolstein, widely known authority upon mental disorders, was in the witness chair.

Dr. Fernald's testimony brought about much court room laughter, led by the defendant, when upon cross-examination she was handed a big sheaf of paper and put to the tests she had prescribed for Remus.

With a pair of scissors she clipped folded papers and displayed them to the jury. She drew straight line pictures and she recited words Remus had recognized and had not recognized.

Remus had "average adult" mental ability, she testified.

Rules Against Sinclair Counsel

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—The government won over counsel for Harry F. Sinclair and his associates today when Justice Frederick L. Siddons ruled the defense could not cross-examine Frank J. O'Reilly, a Burns detective, regarding conversations he had with the parents of Edward J. Kidwell, a juror, in Fall-Sinclair oil trial.

O'Reilly is a government witness in the contempt cases against Sinclair, William J. Burns and others growing out of the shadowing of the oil jury. He had testified that he visited the home of the juror's parents and the senior Kidwell's barber shop and talked with them, but on direct examination he was cautioned by James J. O'Leary, assistant district attorney, that he must not describe the conversations.

Charles A. Douglas, counsel for the Burns officials, asked O'Reilly to tell of the conversations yesterday, but the government objected on the ground that this feature had not been gone into on direct examination.

The defense contended the reason the government did not ask O'Reilly about the conversation was fear that his testimony would show they were only casual and of no importance to the case.

Parish's Condition Poor.

The condition of George W. Parish, 82, of Hasbrouck avenue was reported as being not so good today at the Kingston City Hospital, where he was taken after being knocked down by an auto on Broadway Tuesday night. He sustained a broken leg and other injuries.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—Return of U. S. Steel common and General Motors to the leadership of the market featured the resumption of the upward movement of prices in today's stock market. Steel was bid up more than 3 points to 149¾, the highest price since the first week of October, by early afternoon, and General Motors recorded a similar gain by touching 133, blocks of 1,000 to 12,000 shares changing hands in these two issues.

The optimistic tenor of the annual business forecasts now making their appearance and the abundance of money at relatively easy rates were important factors in the "bull" movement, which embraced a wide variety of stocks.

Flurries of profit taking and bear selling swept through the market at intervals, but they failed to cause more than a ripple of excitement. Wright Aeronautical, which has enjoyed a sensational advance in the last few weeks, broke six points, and a number of others yielded a point or more.

Coppers gave another impressive demonstration of strength under the leadership of Greene Cananea, which was bid up over five points. International Harvester, Sloss Sheffield Steel, F. M. Shattuck, Arnold Constable and a few others sold four to nearly seven points higher.

Trading was in tremendous volume, total sales in the first three hours running close to 2,000,000 shares, with indications that the sales for the full session would cross the 3,000,000 mark.

Burgevin Windows Attractive.

The Main and Fair street fronts of Valentin Burgevin, Inc., and the display windows of the floral shop present a most attractive appearance with their Christmas season decorations. There are garlands of ropes of green vines interlaced with poinsetta strung along the walls and the windows are most artistically festooned and decorated.

Auburn Prison Will Be Rebuilt

State Architect Jones Estimates Cost at $4,000,000—Will Have Total Capacity of 2,000 Prisoners When Completed.

Auburn, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP).—Auburn prison will be rebuilt on its present site at a total cost of approximately $4,000,000, according to announcement by State Architect S. W. Jones at the prison offices this morning. The plans call for the building of new cell blocks to replace several old buildings on the south side of the prison enclosure. The cells will be six by nine feet with modern plumbing, ventilation and light.

Financial program of the rebuilding will be provided by the state legislature early in the next session, according to statement by State Senator Charles J. Hewitt, of the Senate finance committee, who conferred with Architect Jones here today.

The plans provide that when the new cell block is built the present cell blocks will be rebuilt along modern lines with total capacity of 2,000 prisoners.

The contracts are expected to be let by March 1, 1928, and work started immediately. The buildings will be let to contract. The prison wall around the entire property will be finished, the work to be done by inmate labor.

The present plans do not provide for the immediate removal of the women's prison from Auburn, although it will ultimately take place.

Architect Jones predicted the complete rebuilding of Auburn prison according to his plans in three years.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Patrick Tormey, formerly of Lackawack, died at her home in Astoria, L. I., on December 9 after a long illness. She was formerly Miss Mary Stangel and was born at Lackawack 66 years ago and spent all of her early life there. She is survived by her husband, three sons, Frank, Christopher and Bernard, and a daughter, Mary. Funeral services and interment in Astoria.

The funeral of John Resler was held Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock from the late residence, 123 Second avenue, and at 10 o'clock from the Church of the Immaculate Conception where a solemn requiem Mass was celebrated for the repose of his soul. The celebrant was the Rev. Ignatius Bialdyga with the Rev. John DeKrom as deacon and the Rev. Joseph Huband as subdeacon. The bearers were members of the Polish International Sick & Aid Society. The funeral cortege was large and the floral offerings profuse and beautiful. Interment was in Mt. Calvary cemetery where Father Bialdyga had charge of the services at the grave.

The funeral of Dominico Barardi was held Thursday morning from the late home in East Kingston and thence to St. Colman's Church where at 10 o'clock a solemn requiem Mass was celebrated for the repose of his soul by the Rev. John Byrne as celebrant, the Rev. W. H. Kennedy of St. Mary's Church, this city, as deacon, and the Rev. Edmund Burke of St. Joseph's Church, this city, as subdeacon. The choir under the direction of Mrs. Mary Cullen made the responses to the Mass and at the conclusion sang "Jesus, Jesus Come to Me." As the body was borne from the church the choir sang "Nearer My God to Thee." The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful and the funeral cortege to St. Mary's cemetery was very large. Interment was made in the family vault where the services were in charge of Father Byrne.

The late George W. Lament, who died on December 6 at Zephyr Hill, Florida, was one of the best known hotel men in Ulster county for many years. Several years ago his hotel at Big Indian was badly damaged by fire and shortly after that he sustained a stroke from which he never fully rcovered. He had been making his home in Florida for more than a year. He purchased the Big Indian Hotel property in 1893, and conducted it until he removed to Florida. The hotel was built by William DuBois at the time the Ulster & Delaware railroad was under construction. Mr. Lament was a member of various fraternal organizations, including the Masons, Elks, Odd Fellows and the Knights of Pythias. He was a Democrat, for years was committeeman and political leader of the town of Shandaken, held numerous town and county offices and was a member of the board of supervisors for three years. He also served eight years each as town clerk and justice of the peace. In 1906 he was nominated by the Democratic party for county clerk, but met defeat with the balance of the Democratic ticket that year. Mr. Lament was twice married and is survived by his widow, Mary E. Lament.

24 Ships Face Being Icebound

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 16 (AP)—The only exit to Lake Huron for the 24 ships of the Sault ice blockade was closed last night when the steamer Homonic became stuck fast in the ice in the middle Neebesh channel while attempting to cut a lane through the channel.

The 24 ships, manned by 600 men and carrying grain cargoes with a total estimate value of $7,000,000, now face the prospect of being icebound for the winter. Six large tugs for three days failed in attempts to break the ice and free the stranded boats, and the James B. Eades, which made an heroic effort to cut through the downbound channel, is fast in the ice. The Eades is reported leaking forward as a result of having hit a submerged object.

In attempting to open a passageway through the upbound channel the Hamonic was stopped by six inches of ice. With zero temperature prevailing and a gale blowing it was expected that the ice jam would become more solid.

Orphanage Fire Death Toll 36

Quebec, Dec. 16 (AP).—With the recovery today of the bodies of three more children, the death toll of the Hospice, St. Charles fire reached 36. Fourteen others were still missing, 36 hours after the blaze.

Danger of falling walls halted search of the ruins for a time but temporary re-enforcement of the masonry permitted the work to continue. Bodies recovered today were so charred that identification was virtually impossible.

Dry Agent Makes Two Arrests Here

James Casey of 119 North Front street was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Arthur C. Connelly at his office in the Cordts building, Wall street, Thursday evening on a charge of violation of the prohibition law. During the afternoon Lawrence T. Henry, a federal enforcement officer, armed with a search and seizure warrant issued in the Southern district of New York, seized at Casey's place four jugs alleged to contain wine and three jugs alleged to contain apple brandy. Casey is charged with possession.

David Whitaker, employed at 618 Broadway, known as the Cuneo Hotel, was also arraigned, charged with possession of eight half-barrels of beer, seized Thursday afternoon.

Each gave bail in $500 to appear on January 5, to which date an adjournment was taken to await a hearing.

Sale at Rosendale.

The guild of the Episcopal Church, Rosendale, will hold a Christmas sale in the parish house, Tuesday, December 20, beginning at 1 o'clock. The members have been busily engaged making needle work and have some pretty and useful articles, suitable for holiday gifts, on sale. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend. Proceeds for the benefit of the church. Refreshments will be on sale.

Odds and Ends

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Conners of 114 Ten Broeck avenue have purchased a new Kolster radio of Lyons & Weeks of Broadway.

The regular quarterly meeting of St. Peter's Sick & Aid Society will be held on Sunday afternoon, December 18, at 1:30 o'clock, instead of on Christmas.

Lots of homes had plenty of static before the radio was invented.

$200.00 down and $45.00 a month buys six room house, No. 293 Foxhall Avenue.

The $45 covers all interest payments and reduces in part the principal.

House has all conveniences, including Vapor steam heat, Electric Light, Bath, etc. This property has an 82 ft. frontage on Foxhall avenue.

Woman Abandons Gibraltar Swim

Tangier, Morocco, Dec. 16 (AP)—Miss Mercedes Gleitz, London typist, abandoned her attempt to swim the Strait of Gibraltar today. Seasickness after eight hours in the water caused her to give up.

The woman swimmer had covered more than half of the 27 miles which she estimated would be the length of her swim.

While Miss Gleitz was battling with the shark-infested waters of the strait, her rival, Miss Millie Hudson, who at one time was threatening to jump in and make a race of it, remained apparently indifferent toward Miss Gleitz's efforts. Miss Hudson's only activity was to go for her usual morning swim.

"LOOK AND LEARN" QUESTIONS ANSWERED

POULTRY

ALL-MASH FEED GOOD FOR EGGS

Poultry keepers who have used the all-mash method of feeding chicks and growing pullets may continue the method for laying pullets. The plan has proved satisfactory for fall and winter egg production at the Ohio experiment station, and is being used by many successful poultrymen.

The only change in the all-mash for egg production, according to D. C. Kennard, station poultryman, is to increase the meat scraps from 5 to 10 per cent and decrease the corn from 70 to 65 per cent. Coarsely ground wheat may be used instead of middlings in the mash. And for best results, Mr. Kennard would also use milk in some form.

Success with all-mash feeding the laying pullets, especially for winter eggs, is largely determined by the kind of mixture and manner of feeding it. The mash should be as granular as possible rather than finely ground. A suitable type of feeder should provide 20 to 24 feet of eating space per 100 pullets. Fresh mash should be fed daily in the evening, the amount being about what will be consumed during the next 24 hours.

Electric lights may be used to advantage. A warm, moist mash fed in the evening, especially in cold weather, may prove beneficial.

Details relative to the all-mash method of feeding layers may be had by writing the Ohio experiment station at Wooster.

Laying Hens Must Have Ration Rich in Protein

During the course of twelve months a high-laying hen will produce from 18 to 25 or more pounds of eggs—or from four to seven or more times her own body weight, depending upon the weight of the hen. And it is a well-known fact that eggs are high in percentage of protein. Logically, therefore, it follows that laying hens must be fed a ration which is rich in protein if they are to turn out this amount of protein-rich product and still maintain the muscle, sinew and blood in their own bodies.

Home-grown grains, such as wheat, oats, barley and corn, while they all contain a certain proportion of protein, all rank as carbohydrate-rich feeds, necessary to maintain body flesh and provide heat and energy, but lacking in sufficient proportion of protein to meet the requirements of heavy egg production. Millfeeds, such as bran and shorts, contain proportionately more protein than do whole grains, but they, likewise, fail to supply the needed amount. If the ration fed to laying hens contains these feeds only, without the addition of some protein-rich supplement, the feeder cannot expect high egg production; the hen simply cannot produce eggs, but can only turn the carbohydrates into surplus body fat.

Specialist Tells How to Get Better Eggs

Care used in the mating of poultry and in the selection of hatching eggs will in a short time develop a flock that produces practically no inferior eggs, says L. M. Black, extension specialist in poultry husbandry, at the college of agriculture of Rutgers university.

Experiment has shown that certain characters are transmitted to future layers through the egg. The pullet that is hatched from any particular egg tends to lay the same type egg as that from which she came. Successful poultrymen take advantage of this fact and select only typical, large, uniformly colored eggs when setting the incubator. Since sires, too, exert an influence upon the type of egg laid by the pullets, males selected for the breeding pens are from ancestors that were noted for their heavy production of large, uniformly colored and shaped eggs.

There is an old German adage which when translated reads, "As the bird, so is the egg." It probably was not originated for poultrymen alone, but it holds great significance for them.

Vitamines for Fowls

Vitamines should not worry the good poultryman so much in summer as in winter. Green foods and sunshine supply the vitamines that are most apt to be lacking in the winter ration. During the early spring months these factors are apt to be lacking unless the poultryman takes special pains to see that the birds have green stuff and sunshine. Alfalfa leaves, when put in a rack where fowls may eat them, will help to supply the need for green material.

Sunlight Helps Hens

Direct sunlight will help the hens to lay strong shelled eggs as well as eggs with a high degree of hatchability. If hens have been closed up they should be turned out into the sunshine on bright days. If it is necessary to keep them closed up, then the windows should be thrown open during the middle of the day so the direct rays of the sun may get in. Glass substitutes may also be used in place of some of the window glass to let in more.

Tragedy of the Buffalo

The primitive number of bison has been estimated at from 50,000,000 to 60,000,000. In 1850 there were about 20,000,000, in 1870 but 5,500,000, while in 1895 the number had dwindled to 800.

2 Found Dead in Church Basement

Minneapolis, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Rev. Lloyd R. Tucker, pastor of the Second Spiritualist Church, and an unidentified woman were found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning in the living quarters of the pastor in the basement of the church last night.

Both had been dead for several hours. A small gas heater was burning and all the doors and windows were closed.

JOYCE-SCHIRICK POST HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of Joyce-Schirick Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was held Thursday evening at the rooms, Broadway and Brewster street, and the following officers were elected: Commander, Henry Macholdt; senior vice commander, Bernard Roach; junior vice commander, V. Burgevin Hyatt; adjutant, Joseph Mitchell; quartermaster, Robert McLaughlin; historian, Peter J. Halloran; patriotic instructor, Harry Goldsworthy.

At the close of the business meeting Santa Claus visited the rooms and distributed presents to the children from the large Christmas tree that occupied the place of honor. It was found that Santa Claus was provided with presents for every one in attendance.

An exceptionally fine program had also been arranged by the social committee consisting of vocal selections by Herman LaTour and Harry Clearwater with Harry P. Dodge at the piano, and addresses by the Rev. Gregory Mabry and Patriotic Instructor Goldsworthy. A Christmas letter from the commander in chief was also read by Comrade Halloran. At the close of the program refreshments were served.

Peculiar Roman Sauce

The use by the Romans of the sauce which they called "garum" and which consisted of the thoroughly rotted entrails of the tunny fish, must mean that despite the fact that the Roman laws forbade selling in the market any fish that had ceased to glisten, and for that reason forbade the wetting of fish after it left the water, much unclean fish was eaten and needed therefore to be flavored with a sauce made of decayed fish.

Garum cost in the days of the Roman empire about what a good bottle of brandy costs in France today.—Scribner's Magazine.

"Come Out of the Kitchen"

One evening, after dinner, the family was reading when Junior, age five, said: "Daddy, will you go in the kitchen with me to get a drink? I'm afraid."

"You don't need to be afraid," replied the father. "You can take your dog, Pat, with you."

Junior seemed to approve the idea and started to arouse the dog, sleeping near by. The dog growled some at being disturbed.

Junior turned to his father and said: "See, daddy, Pat is afraid, too."

She was only a bootlegger's daughter, but she had a case on me.

Kerhonkson Hotel Fire Investigation

State Troopers Bentley and De-ne are investigating the fire of ysterious origin that completely de-royed the Pocahontas House at rhonkson, a hotel belonging to bert Smolowitz of Brooklyn, early unday morning, and threatened the ecker farm buildings across the ad.

The fire was discovered at 2:15 nday morning by Harry Terwilli-r who saw the flames and turned an alarm. By the time the fire-mpany arrived the flames had ined such headway that the hotel rned to the ground. Seeing smoke ming from the chimney of an ad-ining cottage, the firemen investi-ted and found the door unlocked d the house untenanted, as was e hotel.

In searching the house they lifted a trap door leading to the cellar and found a smouldering fire under the stairs which had apparently burned itself out. The Decker farm house was threatened by the flames but was saved by the firemen.

SCHOOLHOUSE AT ULSTER HEIGHTS DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fire, the second within two years, did considerable damage to the schoolhouse at Ulster Heights, town of Wawarsing, Thursday, December 8. This second fire started in a defective furnace while the school was in session. Several children in the building discovered the fire before much headway had been gained and with the help of neighbors extinguished it before the building was destroyed. However, considerable damage was done to the building.

A Friendly Little Fellow

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

HE'S a friendly little fellow with a friendly little smile,
And he stands there half-expectant in the middle of the aisle.
Mother's busy with the baby, and his sister's sound asleep,
And it isn't very pleasant when so still you have to keep.
He has eaten all his crackers and has looked the paper through,
And a friendly little fellow hasn't very much to do.
So he's looking at the people with a look that seems to say
That a friendly little fellow wants a friend who wants to play.

Well, I hope that some one somewhere in the long and crowded car
Will be somehow half as friendly as the little fellows are.
I am certain there is some one who has stories he could tell
That a friendly little fellow would like hearing mighty well.
There are things outside the window that a boy may never see,
There are horses in a barnyard, there are apples on a tree,
There are things that folks could notice, there are things that folks could say
That would help a little fellow pass a little time away.

He's a friendly little fellow with a friendly little smile,
And he stands there half-expectant in the middle of the aisle.
Oh, I hope that some one sees him, some one stretches him a hand,
Some one full of little stories little fellows understand.
For I'd hate to have a fellow, little fellow anywhere,
Think the wide world didn't want him, and that people didn't care.
I would rather have him find us full of kindness, full of mirth,
Just a friendly little fellow on a great big friendly earth.

UNSELFISH SERVICE

WHEN COLONEL LINDBERGH had the opportunity to commercialize his successful flight to Paris he steadfastly refused. He replied that he was interested primarily in aviation and wished his success to count in that direction.

When Doctor Banting made that priceless discovery of insulin he frankly refused a proffered fortune. Rather than capitalize his discovery he made it possible for the medical profession to have access to it at a reasonable cost. Today the scourge of diabetes can be kept under control.

When Doctor Steenbock discovered how to treat food with the ultra-violet ray so as to cure rickets, one business concern promptly offered him a million dollars if he would patent his discovery and sell it to them. Like Colonel Lindbergh, and Doctor Banting he refused stating that all he desired was the privilege of continuing his studies. This was made possible through the creation of the Wisconsin Research foundation.

The attitude of these three men have created a wonderful reaction in the hearts of young men and women. The moral impact of their point of view will do much to encourage a more wholesome faith in unselfish service.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

WEDDING-RING FINGER

WHEN is a solitaire just a solitaire and when is it transformed into that emblem of magic and romance, the engagement ring?

It is the latter when worn on the third finger of the left hand. Indeed, worn there, it need not be a solitaire; the humblest circlet when it appears on the proper finger becomes potent with symbolism. A mere "friendship" ring remains such only while it does not appear on that crucial finger. Once worn there it assumes a deeper significance! And when the bridegroom says, "I do," and turns to his blushing bride, it is on that third finger of her left hand that he places the golden circlet which is a token and a symbol of their union.

For the origin of this practice we must go back to the days of the ancient Romans, whose wives wore their wedding rings on the third finger of the left hand because it was their belief that the nerve of that finger ran directly to the heart!

"Bantus"

A Bantu is a member of one of the great family of Negroid tribes occupying Equatorial and southern Africa. These tribes include, as important divisions, the Kafirs, Damaras, Bechuanas, Swahilis and many tribes whose names begin with Aba-, Ama-, Ba-, Ma-, Wa-, variants of the Bantu plural personal prefix Aba-, as in Ba-ntu, or Aba-ntu, itself a combination of this prefix with the syllable -ntu, a person.

"Royal Mike" is the name given by the British public to the special microphone used by King George of England when he broadcasts. This instrument, reserved for the royal family, is covered with silver wire and bears, in gold, the familiar insignia of the lion and unicorn. It is said to be the most valuable "mike" in the world from a monetary standpoint.

The DAIRY

COWS TESTED FOR MILK PRODUCTION

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A dairy herd improvement association is an organization of dairy farmers who cooperatively employ a man to test their cows for economical production of milk and butterfat. The tester visits each farm one day each month, weighs the feed and milk of each cow, tests the milk for butterfat, and figures the results.

The dairy herd improvement association furnishes the dairyman definite information regarding the milk and butterfat production of each cow, thus enabling him to cull out the low producers, to feed the remainder according to known production, and to breed up a herd in which the daughters excel their dams. That all this is adding to the profits of members of dairy herd improvement associations is indicated by the increase in the number of these associations.

It is estimated that the average dairy cow in this country produces annually about 4,500 pounds of milk containing about 180 pounds of butterfat. The records of thousands of cows tested regularly show average yields of more than 7,200 pounds of milk and 282 pounds of butterfat. Several associations have average yearly records of more than 300 pounds of butterfat.

In the Ottertail (Minn.) association in 1924-25 the cow produced an average of 229 pounds of butterfat and returned a little more than $3 for every dollar's worth of feed consumed. Moreover, each cow returned $101 income above feed cost. Commenting on this record J. C. McDowell of the United States Department of Agriculture remarks that any cow that returns $3 for every dollar spent for feed is a good market for feed, and that a cow that each year returns $100 above feed cost is a good labor market.

Rye Will Make Fair to Good Grade of Silage

Rye when cut in the flower or early dough stage will make a fair to good grade of silage. The silage is liable to be rather strong smelling and is liable to taint the milk, although this can be largely overcome by feeding the silage directly after milking rather than before. Care will also have to be exercised that the mangers are well cleaned out and the silo is cut off from the barn as otherwise the odor in the barn itself may be taken up by the milk during milking time. One investigation indicated that rye silage was about 10 per cent less valuable for milk production than was corn silage. It is, perhaps, not quite as palatable as corn silage and has not been largely used for silage.

Centrifugal Force Will Drive Out Skim Milk

Centrifugal force drives the skim milk out of the separator bowl. An increase in speed, therefore, forces more skim milk through the skim milk outlet, consequently richer cream. A decrease in the speed forces less skim milk through the skim milk outlet and the cream, therefore, is thinner. Where different persons operate the separator there can be but little uniformity in speed unless each person makes an effort frequently to count the crank revolutions by their watch. The use of a gasoline engine or some constant power will tend to give a more uniform cream test than when the machine is operated by hand.

Dairy Squibs

Avoid overfeeding the poor-producing dairy cow.

* * *

Underfeeding good cows is extravagant waste.

* * *

Records of five years show that it costs $43 a year to care for a cow.

* * *

A good dairy cow probably consumes more water than any other domestic animal. The more feed consumed, the more water the cow requires.

* * *

The man who thinks he is economizing by buying cheap milk pails is fooling himself. A good pail costs a little more but it lasts far longer and is cheaper in the long run.

* * *

Tests at the Minnesota experiment station show that a cow producing 27 pounds of milk daily consumed 9.6 gallons of water while one of the same breed giving 13 pounds of milk drank only five gallons of water.

* * *

Dairymen who feed high protein feeds may add more fertility to the soil through manure than is taken out by crops.

* * *

Cooling cream and milk immediately after separating takes out the animal heat and removes the smothered flavor so often objected to.

* * *

In caring for milk and cream it is necessary to have a clean place free from dirt and flies and a place which precludes the possibility of milk taking up odors.

Bamboo Ripens Slowly

The bureau of plant industry says that the bamboo tree receives its growth in a comparatively short time, but from five to ten years are required for the wood to ripen so that it will be of use commercially.

Warn Autoists Against Delay

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 16.—Motorists who are inclined to put off reregistration of their cars until after the Christmas shopping season should bear in mind that the rush of the last week of the year is so great that the clerks in issuing offices find it almost impossible to issue plates in an orderly manner and without a tedious delay. The after-Christmas applicant may be put to inconvenience and for that reason the bureau of motor vehicles has provided facilities for quick disposal of applications for reregistration for 1928 in the weeks preceding the holidays.

The requirement this year that an applicant shall submit proof of ownership of the car he seeks to register is made necessary by an amendment to the Highway Law passed by the Legislature of 1927. For reregistration the renewal stub of 1927 is sufficient proof, but in the case of a new car, or if a renewal stub has been lost and a duplicate cannot be obtained, a bill of sale or certificate of purchase will be required.

The new license plates may be attached to cars on December 27, five days before the new year. Owners are reminded that if their cars are to be operated legally on or after January 1, 1928, they must be reregistered and new number plates secured.

Presidential Yacht

In the days of Presidential luxury, which began with the Roosevelt administration, the yacht Mayflower was first applied to the purpose she has since served. President Roosevelt took over the vessel in 1902 by permission of congress. Upon her decks he introduced the Russian and Japanese commissioners who met at Portsmouth, N. H., and made the peace between their countries. Since then she has received the guests of four subsequent Presidents, and has served all of them as a part-time summer White House.

When he holds one of these smart new Hamiltons in his hand its beauty will win his heartiest admiration. As he uses it year after year its dependability and accuracy will amaze him again and again. The Hamilton was the first watch to time the United States air mails. It timed the first plane that crossed the pole. Explorers use it. Railroads use it; for it is the watch of railroad accuracy. It is made in many models both pocket and strap. Hamiltons range in price from $48 to $685.

All Cooks Look Alike

to the hungry man, but what a sad disappointment when the "kitchen queen" quits suddenly and the table looks anything but satisfying to a restful appetite. When in doubt as to what to do, use The Freeman's "Help Wanted" Cash-a-Word Department.
